TO THE FACULTY

DEDICATION

In this edition of the "W", which we have likened to a movie, it seems to us appropriate to name the faculty "DIRECTORS". As it is to the directors that we attribute the success of a picture, so it is to our teachers that we owe most of our success in gaining our education. And as an actor without a good director is useless, so the student, without the guidance of teachers, finds his efforts worth little. Therefore we, the staff, dedicate this book

TO THE FACULTY

THE SENIOR SCHOOL

The senior school represents the ambitions of every freshman, the fond memories of every graduate. Its worn stairways, scarred walls, and initialed desks give evidence of the hundreds of students who have passed through its corridors. Each year swells the number of underclassmen it has sheltered, with their hopes, fears, and ambitions, and the regretful graduates who have bid it sad farewells. What pleasant memories it holds for those who have passed from it, what joyful anticipations for those to come!

TO THE FACULTY

To that most worthy body
Of purpose strong and true
I herewith submit credit
That hath long been overdue;

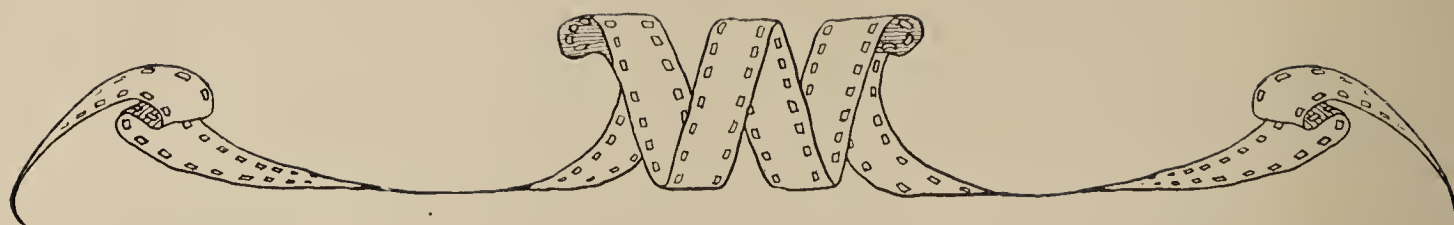

To those who give their worthy lives
To transmit mathematics
To that very doubtful matter
In the region of our attics;

To those who would instill
Within a numbskull head
A little French and English that
Will help us earn our bread;

To those of patience sorely tried
Who fain would teach to us
Where to place a comma
And for what's a nucleus.

May these noble, worthy souls
In the future find reward
For trying to enlighten those
Of education bored.

SENIOR A HISTORY

During the past year, the W. T. H. S. studio has been very lucky in having a remarkable aggregation of well trained, popular stars. Most of these stars have been with this studio for four years. In February, 1928, a group of extras was engaged to make a production "Frosh," requiring a large but not an experienced cast. Another similar group entered the studio the following autumn to work in the same production. At first these new extras were much dismayed by the movie world, and doubtful as to what was expected of them by the directors, but when they became more accustomed to the routine of the studio, they began to show signs of real talent. The freshman A class officers of the June class, Robert Price, president, Thomas Drew, vice-president, and Robert Heydecker, secretary-treasurer, and of the midyear class, Juanita Fredbeck, president, Grace Bjerstedt, vice-president, and Esther Lindross, secretary-treasurer, had the leading parts.

After a year in which to learn the quirks of the movie business, the group was used in the comedy production "Sophs." It is a well known fact that many of the great stars of the screen received their training as comedians, and so it was with these. They labored hard for a year, preparing for the bigger things to come, and at the same time making a good record for themselves. Juanita Fredbeck, president, Raymond Brennecke, vice-president, Esther Lindross, secretary-treasurer, and Regina Gildea, president, Paul Lorraine, vice-president, Thomas Drew, secretary-treasurer, as officers of the sophomore midyear and June classes, respectively, did especially good work.

And then, with an extensive amount of careful training completed, they were ready to undertake much larger projects during the next year. In addition to making "Juniors," they were granted feature rôles in many other productions of the year,—athletics, dramatics, military, music, and publications. Each class produced a "Junior Prom," both of which were greatly enjoyed by all who attended. The first had a unique modernistic setting in green, black and silver, and the second was an attractive representation of Palm Beach. The coveted parts of prom chairmen were awarded to Harry Stiles and Edward Tyrrell. The officers of the midyear class were: George Wendahl, president; Robert Wilmot, vice-president; Karna Jokinen, secretary-treasurer; of the second class: Thomas Drew, president; Joseph Jackson, vice-president, and Edward Tyrrell, secretary-treasurer.

At last, as seniors, after four strenuous but successful years, they are full fledged stars. It is the custom of the studio to issue paychecks every six weeks, paying in proportion to the grade of work done. New contracts are signed every semester for those who have done satisfactory work. Every year the entire company is given a three-month vacation, that they may return to the studio with renewed vigor and enthusiasm. Those who are now stars have succeeded in renewing their contracts every semester of the four years they have been in W. T. H. S. They were fully prepared for the excellence required of them now.

The two groups have worked separately during the four years. Each this year has completed a mammoth production with an all-star cast. Leading parts in the midyear graduation class were played by Esther Lindross, as valedictorian, and Claude Hawley, as salutatorian. The class officers were: John Clarke, president; Lillian Fulton, vice-president, and Ann Lindross, secretary-treasurer.

The June graduation class, with an even larger cast of stars, was the work of the second group. In it Edward Tyrrell was president of the class, Thomas Drew, vice-president, and Blanche Killian, secretary-treasurer.

Fifteen members of the midyear class produced "Tiger House," their senior play. "Hot Copy" was made by thirteen of the seniors graduating in June.

During the four years, the members of the midyear class have been directed and assisted by Mr. Bardonner and Miss Heisig, while Mr. Ayres and Miss Sexton have given the same sort of kindly advice and guidance to the June class. Among the projects which these sponsors have forwarded has been a class party by each class each year, until this year the depression deprived them of this recreation.

With the completion of their graduation, the seniors' contracts have expired. Although W. T. H. S. has given them much valuable experience and knowledge, it has no more work for them, and can offer nothing more to their education. It sends their diplomas with them as references. May each climb rapidly to stardom in the next studio with which he signs a contract!

SENIOR B HISTORY

Movie fans! That stupendous production for which you have been waiting, the "Senior B's", featuring those capable players, the members of the 1933 midyear graduating class and directed by Mr. Hills and Miss Craine, has now been released.

The picture portrays three and a half years of the labors, pleasures, errors, triumphs, and improvements of about a hundred young people. It begins with a group scene of an unusual type. It is about eight-thirty on a Monday morning in February, 1929. The setting is the junior assembly of the Waukegan Township High School, in which are gathered many small, hesitant, fearful children, of a peculiar greenish color, known as freshmen. These are put in charge of kindly grown-ups, the home-room teachers.

After this we catch only occasional glimpses of them during the next few months, showing them losing much of their greenness and gaining in knowledge, experience, and self-confidence. Following a short summer vacation, they return to school, still freshmen, but with the greenness decidedly faded. They organize and elect Thomas Diver president; Esther Kahila, vice-president, and Jean Kendall, secretary-treasurer. These three people, with many other able committees, gather the group at a very pleasant party, the first festive scene in the picture.

During the next year, various members of the class are shown engaging in many activities about school—athletic, musical, and dramatic. A touch of color is added by having the boys don military uniforms.

The picture follows a new and novel plan. As told, first the entire group is shown, and then one individual after another is given more prominence. During the third year, James Jones, Thomas Diver, and Kathryn Brown, as president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, were so honored. Another high point in the picture comes with the junior prom, when the scene shifts to Boardwalk in Palm Beach. Avery Doolittle, prom chairman, is the central figure in this episode.

In February, 1932, they are disclosed in the coveted places in the senior assembly. The picture ends happily, with the characters well on their way to their goal, GRADUATION.

If you enjoy clever acting and an interesting narrative, you should not miss this motion picture, nor any future ones in which any of its actors or actresses have rôles.

Within this noble school
There is a worthy class,
And I defy the world
Their virtue to surpass.

Their brilliance and their brains
Are almost unbelievable,
Their vim, pep, and vigor
Are really inconceivable.
Their beauty and their grace
Spread sunshine all about,
Their cleverness and wit
Are great without a doubt.

Such courtesy and poise,
Such modesty displayed,
The rules and regulations
They've never disobeyed.
Who can these wonders be,
From what Utopian source?
Why who else could they be?
Our senior B's, of course.

JUNIOR CLASS

For two years the lower classmen studios of Waukegan Township High School have been astir with activity. The cast for the great screen production coming out next year has now almost reached perfection under the careful instruction of its directors. The noted producers, Miss Oke and Mr. McAfee (sponsors of the three A class) have the sound effects well under way for the coming picture starring their future seniors. A resumé of the production would not be complete without naming the stage director and the head cameraman who are Miss Webb and Mr. Halteman respectively (three B sponsors).

This year, the one great task of the cast was ably handled, when the junior prom was successfully staged. Admirers of the first notable production of the players were countless, and it may be stated without doubt that their next and last great show (the show rightly named, "The Last Parade of the Seniors") will be even more admirable.

The 1932 band dance was graced by the presence of the members of the cast (meaning the dance was largely attended by juniors). Screen records also prove that the actors starred in the Military Hop, one of the season's hits. The players who have been in the favor of the various other directors (teachers) have already made a hit in the studios of W. T. H. S.

Their task of organizing committees and collecting class dues for the annual junior prom which they so admirably carried out this year will be handed over to the incoming casts (present sophomores). The various divisions of the senior building studio (homerooms) will be vacated by these players and they will move into the main division (senior assembly) next year.

With the realization of the advancement into their fourth year ahead of juniors, the third year class understands the meaning of the hard work which it has experienced in former years. At times, the members of this cast have thought their time unwisely spent in learning Shakespeare's "Caesar" and so on, but now the thought dawns upon their minds that their first years in high school, though difficult, were the beginning of their careers as actors in this great play of education.

The first three years were devoted to adjusting themselves to the parts of great stars in this production. And after those three years of disappointments, hard work, and pleasures, great stars come forth and show themselves supreme in the world of the silver screen.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The members of this sophisticated cast of props, extras, comedians, and what have you, have just emerged from the stage of what is called "baby-hood" in the W. T. H. S. movie studios. The boys passed from that stage of the freshman age into the military age when they proudly donned their first khaki uniforms, unless, of course, they were members of the famous studio band. Needless to say, the girls practically swamped the G. A. A. studio with the hope of becoming famous screen athletes. Kindheartedly, the directors, Miss Bonar, Miss Rundquist, and Miss Heimlicher took most of them providing that they were able to pass the screen test (having enough points to join).

The directors of this cast of accodian players, cheerleaders, and bright little extras, props, and comedians, are struggling to polish up this band of players commonly termed Sophs. The directors most worthy of this task are the sponsors—Miss Mihan and Mr. Kaufman, Miss L. Stoevener and Mr. Eads.

Sophs are the most enthusiastic members of all the clubs in W. T. H. S. Always striving to climb to fame in the studios of W. T. H. S., these young beginners in the art of acting are the most promising of all the second year casts in the history of Waukegan. They take most active part in all school curricular events. Their interest, which has diminished little since their beginning year, has served to carry them through all their minor productions.

The advanced stars of the high school silver screen have high hopes for the development of a bright snappy cast formed by this group of charming little Sophs. Watch them go!

The Soph cast will be transferred from the studios in the Junior building to the studios in the Senior building next year. They will find existing conditions in their future positions much different from those of this year. They will take the place of the present three-year cast (juniors), and it is certain that they will most faithfully fulfill the traditions of the junior classes in the past.

Some day they too will have their chance to star in their rôle of education in two years from now. Time of course plays one of the greatest factors in this play and sometimes makes the work of the players seem too tedious and too little worth while waiting for. When they reach their goal of stardom they see that the time spent was all worthwhile.

The producers of their productions sometimes seem most hard and discouraging to deal with, but they soon realize that they were necessary as prompters for their lines.

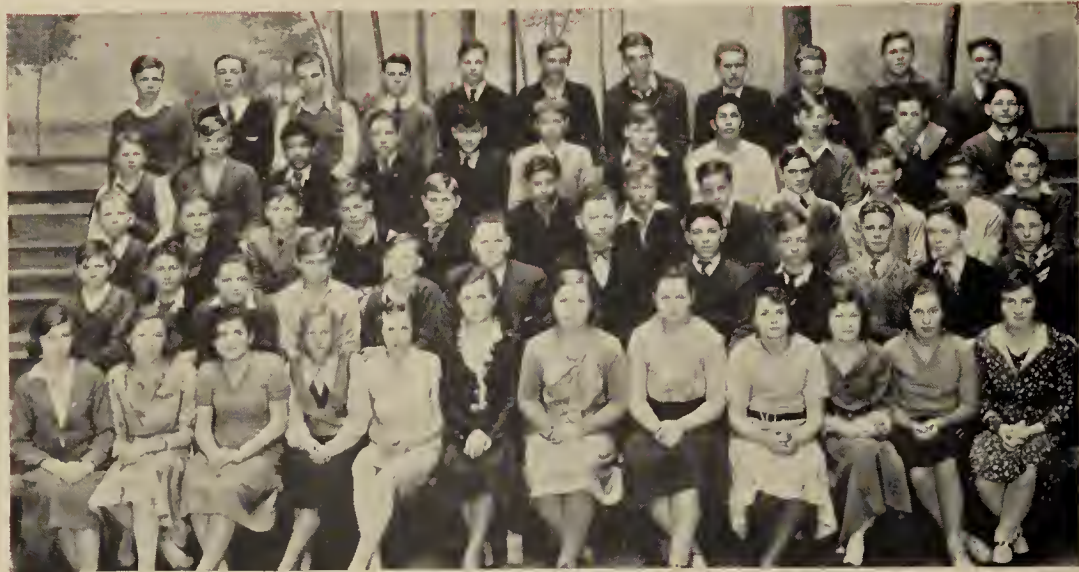

Watch for their box office hit of 1934!

FRESHMAN "B" CLASS

ENTERED FEBRUARY, 1932

FRESHMAN HISTORY

On September eighth, 1931, a clamoring mob of amateur actors and actresses appeared at the gates of the W. T. H. S. motion picture studio, waving rolls of white paper. These youngsters were desirous of obtaining work as "extras," and offered their diplomas, received upon graduation from grade school, as references. It was at the time when those already under contract with the company were returning after the long summer vacation, and the directors had not planned to fill the vacancies left by the few who had dropped out. However, this group seemed to have intelligence and talent, and doubtless included many "finds," so all were told that they might enter the studio, providing they would be willing to accept as salary each six weeks just so much as the directors considered them worth, increasing and decreasing as their work grew better or worse. They readily agreed, and hopefully began the first steps in their screen careers-to-be. These beginners were put in charge of the directors, Mr. Griffin and Miss Oviatt, who very skillfully guided them through their first errors and triumphs. The novices rapidly fulfilled the expectations that were entertained for them when they were engaged, and most of them were soon receiving high marks from the directors.

The group decided to organize for its own convenience, and selected as officers: Robert McDonald, president; Marjorie Heydecker; vice-president, and Iggy Mesec, secretary-treasurer.

To celebrate their success and pleasure in their new work, they gave a party on April thirtieth, which they all enjoyed and which gave them an opportunity to become better acquainted with one another.

Various members of the group showed sufficient talent to be worthy of many minor, and a few important, rôles in various types of productions—dramatic, musical, and newspaper—and proved rivals worthy to try the mettle of the upper classmen with whom they were associated. None of them have had sufficient training to make names for themselves in athletics, but many are working conscientiously, and give promise of doing great things in this field.

They have been put under contract for comedy work next year, when they will become sophomores. This will be the achievement of their ambition, stardom. From the precedent they have set for themselves, all those interested feel justified in expecting much from them when they have obtained additional experience.

On February first, 1932, another group, made ambitious by the success of the freshman A's, appeared at the studio to offer their diplomas as proof that they too were capable of doing "extra" work. The producers were so much pleased with their first group of beginners that they quickly accepted these under the same conditions as the first. These freshmen have had time to do no more than become adjusted to the studio routine, but they have offered so little trouble to the directors in the meantime that it is expected another semester will prove them as successful in the W. T. H. S. studio as those who have been with it longer.

May all members of both groups shove onward to the top!

FEATURES

THE MAKING OF OUR ANNUAL.

One of the events which complete the school year is the distribution of the annual. Those students who have subscribed file through room nine to receive their books. Once outside, each student first makes a frantic search for his own picture, and then, with his classmates, proceeds to criticize the entire book.

While considering the annual, few people realize that it is not a professional publication, but almost entirely the labor of students, more or less inexperienced, and that it has taken many months of labor to prepare the book which they peruse in a few hours. We are proud of the fact that the entire yearbook, with the exception of the photography, engraving, and linotyping, is student work.

Three groups are responsible for the production of the annual. Instructed by Mr. Schoenoff, many boys willingly gave countless extra hours to the printing of the book, all of which was done in our own W. T. H. S. Print Shop. The advertising is all set by hand.

The art work for the 1932 edition of the annual, under the direction of Miss Wilkinson, was carried out entirely as a class problem by the second year art students, instead of as an outside activity. Each student worked his ideas into a design for the particular assignment to his section of the class. These designs were then subject to class criticism and suggestion and the best selected by vote.

The five sections of the annual are separated by linoleum block prints. The blocks for the "Directors" was designed by Theodore Bonnicksen, "Cast" by Leo Niemi, "Features" by Donald Aro, "News Reel" by Dorothy Leise, and "Ads" by Mike Ruta. Theodore Bonnicksen and Dorothy Leise are to be credited with the pen and ink reproductions, in stipole, of Mr. Thalman, Miss Dady, Mr. Prichard, and Mr. Jordan. John Laird contributed the lettering in the senior B and junior A sections. Theodore Bonnicksen prepared the board of education panel, the faculty composite, and the sketches in the calendar.

The actual collecting and arrangement of material is in the hands of the staff, advised by Mr. Baker. It is the staff that plans the dummy and prepares the write-ups. It is impossible for them to write all the material, and thanks are due the students and faculty who helped in this and other phases of the work.

and Sylvia Rubin, who wrote the calendar. The others, who were responsible for various assignments, were: Edith Alwardt, Winifred Brown, Thomas Diver, Kathryn Gralund, Clifford Hoyer, Esther Johnson, Kathryn Kapoulas, Carl Mathes, Tony Martini, Eileen Montgomery, Emilie Petersen, Walter Rundquist, Juanita Skelton, and Carolyn Snow.

STUDENT "W" WORLD

Student "W" World for the past year has shown an admirable record both in the making and the management of the paper. The paper now being published runs from six to eight pages.

Gerda Christoffersen, editor for the first semester, systematized the work. The same method was carried on by Hughina Rioux, editor for the second semester. Under the able teaching of Mr. W. R. Baker, the Student "W" World is striding forward.

The local merchants have, in the last semester, become more interested in the paper. This interest is shown by the increase in advertising which has taken place. Because of this increase, another page or two has been added to the paper.

The Student "W" World has been recognized at the student publication conventions at Urbana. It is known as a paper entirely for the students of this school and of other schools, faculty, alumni, and local people.

The circulation has greatly increased during the second semester. Many of the students who had graduated the first semester from W.T.H.S. gave orders for the paper to be sent to their homes. The incoming freshmen as well as the rest of the classes realized the bargain that they were receiving for only forty cents a semester and subscribed for the paper.

Those students who were members of the staff during the first semester '31-'32 and the second semester '32 are shown in the mastheads as they appeared in the issues of the paper during the first and second semesters.

DEBATE

Upholding the old tradition of Waukegan Township High School, Mr. S. I. Sandven has turned out two fine debate teams. Both teams, the affirmative and negative, have several debates to their credit. The students who are on the teams have done exceptionally good work at speaking. They have all devoted a great deal of time to getting their speeches to the very best of their ability. Their brief but argumentative speeches as well as their excellent delivery have convinced judges in all of the contests that Waukegan debaters are something special and well above a great many debaters. Even in those debates that our teams have lost, their loss was by a very, very slight margin. As everyone knows, to judge a debate is hard work, and the judges have decided to the best of their ability.

Those who have been representing Waukegan during the semester at debates both at our school assembly and at other schools are:

Affirmative Team:

Joy Tonigan,
Joe Keffer,
Ronald Freedman.

The teams have debated with:

Negative Team:

Freeport at Freeport,
McKinley at Waukegan,

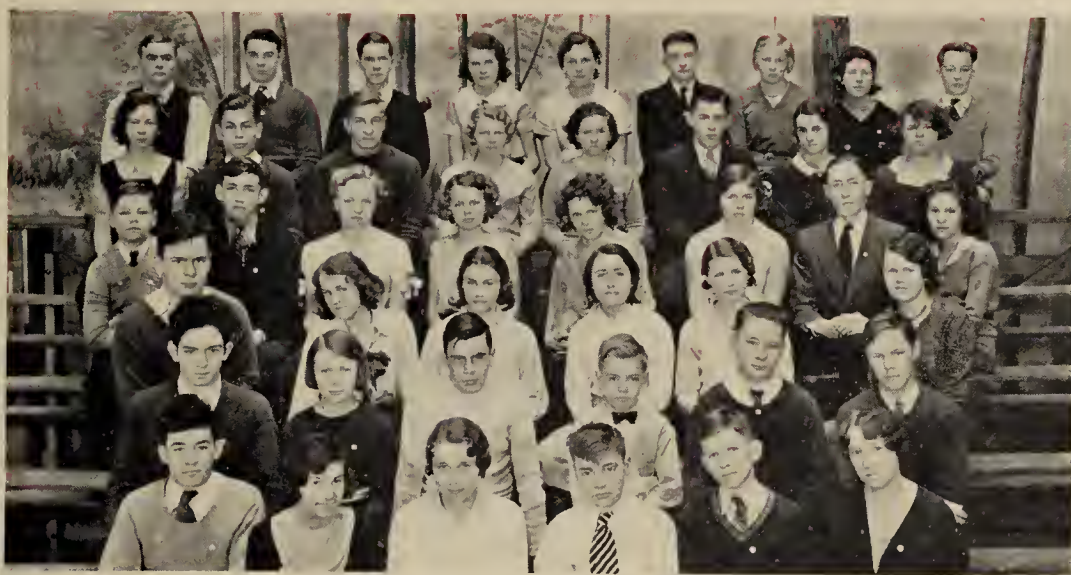

Negative Team:

Melvin Sample,
Steve Stoikoff,
Robert Sundstrom.

Affirmative Team:

Morton at Morton,
Freeport at Waukegan.

The annual Extemporaneous Speaking contest was held during the first semester with a great many students participating. The winners, as the judges finally decided after a long discussion among themselves, were: Millicent Nelson, first place, Ronald Freedman, second, and Joy Tonigan, third.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Junior Red Cross work was first taken up in W. T. H. S. in 1931. In the spring of 1931 Elma Wenta, through an essay contest, won a trip to Washington, D. C., and became president of the local chapter of the Junior Red Cross. Every student of the school is a member of the organization, but the work has been carried on chiefly through a council, consisting of one representative from each home room.

To become enrolled as a chapter of the Junior Red Cross, a school must have a subscription to the Junior Red Cross Journal, for every one hundred students. Then each student receives a pin. The money necessary was obtained by passing "mite boxes" in the home rooms, in which each pupil might drop a small donation.

Cöoperating in a project carried on by the Junior Red Cross throughout the United States, the members of the council made two hundred Christmas menu covers which were used to make Christmas merrier for some unit of the United States Army or Navy. Also, materials for checker boards, made in the work shop, and these and old phonograph records were sent to the veteran's hospital at Great Lakes. In order to obtain the funds for these enterprises, a Hallowe'en masquerade dance was sponsored by the organization.

The officers for 1931-1932, selected by the council, were: Elma Wenta, president; Edward Tyrrell, vice-president; Avis Edwards, secretary; Steve Stoikoff, treasurer.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Another important year in the history of the Girls' League has passed. The Girls' League has done much through the coöperation of girls to aid the school both charitably and sociably.

At Christmas time the girls made and filled stockings for the younger crippled children of Waukegan, and presented each of them with a gift.

The Girls' League dance after the Kenosha basketball game was well attended.

Each year there are many girls who are transferred to W. T. H. S. from other schools. The Girls' League entertained these girls at a party given in their honor. The old members acted as "big sisters" to the new girls.

The annual conference of Girls' League organizations of the suburban districts was held at the J. Sterling Morton High School at Cicero, Illinois, this year. Thirty-five girls represented Waukegan there. Emilie Petersen spoke on the main project of the Girls' League which is a handbook. This handbook, which will be ready for the new freshmen next year, will contain valuable information concerning things about which they are doubtful.

The Girls' League has charge of the "Lost and Found" department. Any articles not claimed within a certain length of time are sent to the Hattie Barwell settlement.

The Girls' League has a council in which each home room has a representative. In this way contact throughout both buildings is established.

The officers of this year's club are Emilie Petersen, president; Caroline Nelson, vice-president; Agnes Groebelch, secretary, and Beulah Tornquist, treasurer. The League is sponsored by Miss Grace Rundquist.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, an organization newly created in this school this year, has for its objectives the following: to stimulate and promote interest in the commercial field, to enable the members to become more conversant with modern progressive business methods, and to afford recreational and social opportunities. Through the efforts of the officers elected, Arnie Wilson, president, Alice McNeany, secretary, and Margaret Lundgren, treasurer, and the sponsor, Mr. R. A. Barnes, the club accomplished several of its aims.

Tours to places and events of interest in the business world were made, and talks by people of authority concerning office appliances were heard. Some of the members made a trip to Chicago to visit the business show at the Hotel Stevens during the second semester. They also went to see the new building for the 1933 World's Fair. The trip proved both educational and enjoyable. It is expected that similar excursions will be forwarded in future years.

The dance sponsored by the club after a basketball game was a social and financial success.

This club has been very successful during its first year, but its members hope to foster a great deal more in the way of student activity next year.

INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH CLUB

The Industrial Research club reorganized January 8, 1932, under the direction of Mr. J. I. Lockhart. The following officers were elected: Sidney Schiff, president; William Janssen, vice-president; Rafael Gummerus, secretary-treasurer.

The membership is limited to those boys vitally interested, in order that the plans of the club may be more effectively carried out. The club is for the purpose of giving the members an opportunity to become better acquainted with the industries of this community. Every week a factory is visited. Methods and raw materials used, together with the safety devices and precautions employed, are studied.

First aid is taken up in connection with the safety program. In order to become efficient in this, a first aid team is organized to compete with other first aid teams. A burlesque of first aid was put on for Amateur Nite.

The Ernest Warther Hand Carved Locomotive exhibit was brought to Waukegan by the Industrial Research club. This club was also responsible for the showing of the Johns-Manville picture.

Among the interesting visits made during the year were those to Abbott Laboratories, the Public Service Company, the city water works, Callahan's Dairy Company, the Chicago Hardware Foundry Company, the Cyclone Fence Company, the Griess-Pfleger Tanning Company, the Oaks Products Company, and the American Steel and Wire Company.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

Officers

President.....	Norman Pearson
Vice-President.....	Elma Wenta
Secretary.....	Frances Kellner
Treasurer.....	Roy Makela
Sponsor.....	Miss Bess Dady

The mathematics club ranks as one of the oldest and finest of all the clubs in Waukegan Township High School. This club makes it possible for those students who are especially interested in mathematics to obtain information which would not be gained in the regular mathematics courses.

The meetings this year have been devoted to such topics as biographies of well-known mathematicians, famous mathematical problems, historical topics, and various mathematical devices. The last meeting of the year was a social meeting at which a mathematical play was presented by the members of the club.

JUNIOR CHEMISTS

The Junior Chemists is an organization which was started several years ago to stimulate interest in the sciences, mainly chemistry. It promotes interest in intellectual contests, modern industry, and commercial chemistry. Any student who is taking or has taken chemistry is eligible for membership. The club has been progressing rapidly, and continuing successfully under the guidance of Mr. N. J. Anderson.

These amateur chemists meet every two weeks. A committee plans an interesting program for each time. Many topics relative to the field of chemistry are discussed, and various members volunteer to give reports on articles from current scientific journals. At two meetings part of the entertainment was furnished by James Hansen and Norman Pearson, who demonstrated the making of coal gas and nitric acid.

Each year the club makes one trip to some industrial plant to see chemistry as it is used practically. This year the members visited the city water works, especially the chemical laboratory. The chemist spoke to the students, explaining some of the work which is being done there.

Some of the members also went to an electric shop, where the owner, Mr. Ralph Miranda, demonstrated some of the wonders of electricity to them.

The officers elected this year were: Norman Pearson, president, Elma Wenta, vice-president, and Ben Hogan, secretary.

The club has very well fulfilled its purpose of offering to the more interested students more information than time permits in regular class work.

RADIO CLUB

One of the newest and most novel clubs in school is the Radio club. At meetings, the members gain an understanding of all the apparatus necessary to put and keep a radio in proper working order. Most of the study is done from pictures, because what apparatus can be afforded is needed more for physics and chemistry classes than for club activities.

The club has reason to be proud of itself. In one short year, it has gone far toward the accomplishment of its aims. Many students have become interested in the science of radio. Two of the members, Donald Reed and Dudley Johnson, have licenses for amateur sending stations. Of all the members of the club, Don is probably the most interested in the future of radio. He invited the members of the club to visit his station at his home one evening a week so that they might see just what goes on. The club visited the Great Lakes broadcasting station to see the sending apparatus. Plans were laid for trips to several other stations.

The group spends most of its time in learning the international code. This is very important because it is the code used by amateurs in sending.

The officers who led the club were for the first semester: Don Reed, president, Floyd Falvey, vice-president, and Tilly Yokus, secretary-treasurer; for the second semester: Don Reed, president, Clifford Nelson, vice-president, and Robert Ritz, secretary-treasurer.

Sponsored by Mr. G. A. Waldorf and Mr. M. Thompson, the club promises to be one of the most popular and the largest in the school.

POSTER CLUB

The Poster club, under the supervision of Mr. C. A. Jickling, is continuing to function more and more in the affairs of our high school, as is evidenced by the numerous posters made for all organizations of our institution.

Members of the Poster club are required to make posters advertising coming school events. The earning of the gold club pin is now based on the insignia rating which emphasizes good posters, promptness in making the same, and club spirit. Every active member is given the service award, a high school ever-sharp pencil, even though he has not acquired a great number of points for poster work.

The Poster club this year has acquired many new ideas for the enlargement of the treasury, including matinee dances, movies, and special poster numbers. The club sponsored a very successful dance early in December. The profit from this dance will be used to buy pins for the members of the club who have earned the required fifty points.

Since there had been favorable comment on the posters made, the club decided to hold a poster exhibit sometime in the spring.

The kind advice and direction of Miss La Reine McKinney of the art department have been a large factor in the success of the club this year.

As a whole, the 1932 organization has succeeded in every respect.

The officers for the year were: president, William Philipps; vice-president, Hughina Rioux, and secretary-treasurer, Esther Lindross.

CHEERLEADERS' CLUB

No school athletic event is complete without its cheerleaders. It is they who direct and turn to the best use the energies and fervor of the rooters, and who add color to the affair.

Instructed and encouraged by Mr. E. H. Cole, the boys have made a very good showing this year. In order to organize their interests and efforts they formed a club. Any boy who so desired might join. At first there were about a dozen members, but many dropped out, until only about six were active. The boys gathered with Mr. Cole once or twice a week during sports seasons to practice new yells, improve old ones, and prepare surprise stunts. Official club meetings were held every month. The following were selected as officers: Albert Bearman, president, Lloyd Van Deusen, vice-president, and Ray Gunckel, secretary-treasurer.

Cheerleaders have more important duties than merely encouraging the teams, and making the games more interesting for the spectators. They help the students express their appreciation of the assembly programs. By pep meetings, they keep up the morale of the rooters. In a measure, the honor of the school rests upon their shoulders. They lead good will yells for the opposing teams. The onlookers are prone to, and should, follow the cheerleaders in their attitudes. In trying situations, these boys can do a great deal toward keeping up the standards of good sportsmanship in the school, if loyally supported.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The G. A. A. is an organization for all girls interested in sports, and girls who wish to have contact with others who are interested in this same phase of school life. The enrollment is larger this year than last. It totals ninety members.

Girls having one hundred points are eligible for membership. In order to obtain these points, they must participate in after school activities, such as soccer, volleyball, swimming, basketball, baseball, track, archery, or tumbling, each of which rewards one with forty points. Points may also be obtained in the following ways: physical examination, class gym, class swimming, and keeping training rules. Those passing their life saving tests receive one hundred points.

Local and state awards are offered the members for obtaining a high number of points. The highest award, a state award, is bestowed upon a member for twenty-one hundred points. It is a chenile emblem, very highly coveted and considered a great honor.

The state gives another award for sixteen hundred points. The local awards, those most commonly worn by the girls in the school, are a gold and purple "W" for twelve hundred points, and a class numeral for six hundred points.

The major events of this year were the welcoming parties for the freshmen in September and February, and the initiations and parties after each sport season. The climax of the club's activities came in the spring with the water pageant. The pool was transformed into a pirate's den.

The girls who piloted the association through the year, under the guidance of the sponsors, Miss Margaret Heimlicher and Miss Alice Bonar, were: Virginia Dart, president; Kathrine Gralund, vice-president; Elvera Anderson, secretary, and Mary Margaret Smith, treasurer.

MUSCLE CLUB

The first year of a successful Muscle Club has come to a close. Coach Grosche brought this club through its first year with much satisfaction.

The Muscle Club was formed for a three-fold purpose:

First—To encourage physical development;

Second—To interest boys in boxing, and

Third—To form a wrestling team.

Most of the members, of whom there were fifty-two, did gain some physical development. The boxing team defeated Morton twice, Deerfield once, and lost an abbreviated five bout match to Deerfield. The wrestling game became well enough established so that two meets were held. Waukegan lost to Proviso thirty-three to twenty-three, and to Senn High of Chicago by a thirty-one to six score. Some of the outstanding performers were: Don Aro, Bob Mears, Stan Bennet, Ray Sauve, Bob Heydecker, Leo Selenik, Rudy Kuhar, Tom Drew, Milt Schreyer, Mertin Zadigian, Al Sayres and Don Nellins.

These boys have shown faithful service in practising. Their ability as boxers has increased. Enthusiastic supporters of the club are promoting a good wholesome program, which is of great interest to the boys.

The Muscle Club has gained much popularity in its first year of prominence, and it promises many more outstanding accomplishments in future years.

SKI CLUB

The Ski club of Waukegan Township High School was organized for the second time under the capable coaching of Al Grosche. Over forty boys and girls signified their willingness to "ride or fall." This thrilling Scandinavian sport calls forth the attention of many who are sport minded and have plenty of nerve. The lack of snow this year was the main drawback, and no good signs appeared until March. The snow drifted so that the hillsides were bare. This meant that the daring skiers must await another winter more favorable to go skiing.

The principles of the Ski club set forth many happy ideals for its ardent supporters and others. It promotes healthy and vigorous exercise besides being a great deal of fun. No school can afford to do away with any sport which is beneficial to the students.

Those who have shown the desire to promote this club promise to be very good material. Where willingness is shown there are sure to be good results. Next year promises to be very encouraging if the material is as good as that this year.

For those who have the happy ambition of belonging to the Ski club next year, we hope that there will be as much snow as they could possibly wish for.

500-MILE HIKERS' CLUB

The 500-Mile Hikers' club, sponsored by Mr. A. G. Grosche, was organized during the third week of school. Mileage slips number about thirty-five. The total number of members is about sixty-five. When the distance of five hundred miles has been covered by a member, he receives a pin. Seymour Schiff was the first boy to hike the required number of miles; Dorothy Urban was the first girl. When five hundred miles is covered by a member, he starts out with a thousand miles as the goal. The members usually hike in groups during the week-ends. Non-members are surprised by the early rising hours of the hikers, as announced in the bulletins. The average mileage has been about fifteen and three-fourths miles per day. The record mileage is twenty-eight miles.

By the middle of April, seven faithful members, who handed in their mileage slips every day, had progressed as follows: Mary Unewitz, 854 miles; Stella Verpencinkas, 776.6 miles; Dorothy Urban, 736.8 miles; Angela Smrtnik, 714.9 miles; Elizabeth Tersar, 708.1 miles; Eugene Godin, 497.5 miles, and Sigrid Pokela, 324.6 miles.

The officers for the year were: Seymour Schiff, president first semester, Olga Cerk, president second semester, Angela Smrtnik, vice-president, and Dorothy Urban, secretary-treasurer.

Although this club was first formed this year, it has rapidly assumed its rightful place among the school activities. Many of the members have reached or surpassed the goal, all have acquired health and pleasure, and reorganization next year is eagerly anticipated.

HI-Y CLUB

Purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." The Four C's Platform: "Clean Health, Clean Living, Clean Speech, and Clean Sports."

The sponsors of this year's Hi-Y club report a very successful season for the boys' club. As is the custom, the club sent three delegates to the Older Boys' Convention for the State of Illinois held at Decatur last fall.

During the Waukegan Township High School basketball season the Hi-Y club sponsored a profitable after-game dance. From the proceeds of this dance the club donated a pledge of fifty dollars to the local Y.M.C.A. in their annual drive for finances.

The program committee was fortunate enough to secure many good speakers for the meetings which are held at the "Y" every Monday night at which time a meal is served. There were twenty-eight members enrolled in the club for the year 1931-32.

HISTORY CLUB

During the course of the year many interesting programs were given by the History Club for its members, the school, and the public. Chief among these was the illustrated talk given in November by Lieutenant Charles Lofgren, U. S. N., a member of Admiral Richard Byrd's expedition to the south pole. He exhibited many interesting and unusual pictures which were taken during this trip, and his Huskie dog, which was born during the polar trip, greatly interested the students.

Another interesting program was a "Trip to Holland," which the club took on November thirteenth. Mr. Theodore Robert, a student in night school, gave a talk about his country, and Mrs. Robert and some girls in Dutch costumes served tea. This proved to be the most interesting club meeting of the year.

The club was also the host to the Citizenship class of the Evening school at a Christmas party. The committee had arranged a tree and gifts and with the aid of some of the women in the class refreshments were served.

On February twelfth a talkie movie by the Illinois Bell Telephone Company was sponsored by the club. This movie proved to be a great treat for the five hundred students who attended. On February twenty-fourth another movie, "Betsy Ross," was given through the courtesy of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The custom of the Dramatics and History Clubs was carried out on February twenty-second in a patriotic program. Mr. J. Manly Phelps of the "Phelps Institute of Speech" delivered a reading, "A Man Without A Country." Julian Stripe sang "Washington, the Beloved," and Elvera Anderson, president of the Dramatics club, gave an original tribute to Washington. Robert Sundstrom, president of the History Club, presided during this program.

Monday, April fourth, the History Club joined several downtown organizations in sponsoring a city-wide Washington Bi-Centennial celebration. A four-reel movie of George Washington's life was a feature of the evening's entertainment.

The Fourth Annual "Amateur Nite" in the new gymnasium on April eighth, pleased more than a thousand students and townspeople. This is the students' own night, and they vied with each other in the twelve acts presented. Most of the proceeds were given to the Piney Woods School for Negroes, local unemployment relief, and the lunch fund for needy students. Those who managed the entertainment were Steve Stoikoff, general chairman; Carolyn Snow, publicity; Alsen Stevens, tickets; Laura Kenyon, program; George Martin, properties, and Virginia Dart, make-up.

The annual picnic and breakfast hike during the last week of school made a very fitting climax to a happy, busy year's activities.

to file petitions as in real election to public office. This method caused the members to consider their choices for office more carefully than is customary. Those selected to serve the club were: Millicent Nelson, president; Lillian Fulton, vice-president; Blanche Killian, secretary; Ella Gayle Haese, treasurer; Jean Frederick, historian; Ferdinand Mikesch, sergeant-at-arms; Esther Lindross and Mercedes Dailey, directors. Some of these graduated in February, and the following new officers were selected to fill their places: Robert Sundstrom, president; June Pereira, vice-president; Lorna Look, historian, and Steve Stoikoff, director.

The board of directors meets usually before every meeting. It considers problems and works out policies. It is the practice for this group to make recommendations to the club.

Observation of American Education Week was one of the most worthwhile projects of the year. This picture comprises a group of students each one of whom gave a short talk on some pertinent subject in home-rooms and before downtown groups.

With the coöperation of the dramatics, instrumental and vocal departments, complete programs were presented before the Whittier and Greenwood Parent-Teachers' associations, the North Chicago and Waukegan Rotary Clubs, Waukegan Kiwanis Club, and the Waukegan Women's Club.

Helen Stiles, chairman of the committee, is shown rehearsing the speech before Mr. Hurd, the sponsor of the club, and the others.

An especial American Education Week edition of the Student "W" World was sponsored by the History Club. Special articles were written by those in the picture.

This picture shows how the mock primary elections were held in April. Ballot boxes were placed in both junior and senior buildings. Students were given the opportunity to state their preference for county, township, state, and national officers.

The students grouped around the desk in room 209 are the club members who were on the invitation and program committees for the Fourth Annual Banquet which was held on January fourteenth.

This committee was appointed to mail invitations to all former members of the club of whom there were six hundred and fifty. One hundred and fifty-two attended the banquet. This was the largest crowd ever present. More than half of those present were members of earlier years.

An interesting Television program, given in the junior assembly, was worked out in a unique manner by the program committee, the members of which are also shown in the picture.

To the menu committee was given the difficult task of planning the food for the banquet, and through their efforts, a delicious meal was served.

The other committee is cutting out and lettering the very attractive name cards used at the banquet.

In this picture we see the decoration committee in the midst of their task. They carried out their ideas very effectively in gold and black, the official History Club colors.

DRAMATICS' CLUB

The Dramatics' club reorganized again this year, during the third week of school, under the direction of Miss Bernice Dunn. Throughout the year, the club held many very interesting meetings where, at various times, the dramatics' classes took part by presenting several one-act plays.

At Christmas time, the club contrived to give ten dollars to help a needy family have a more enjoyable Christmas. Some of the members also brought in many articles to help.

On May seventh, the Dramatics' club gave a Mother's Day Tea, at which the mothers of many members of the Dramatics' club and dramatics' classes were entertained. A splendid program was arranged, which was presented in the senior assembly; afterwards the mothers were served tea in the dramatics' room.

Officers of Dramatics' club first semester:

President.....	Harry Stiles
Vice-president.....	Andrew Stenros
Secretary-treasurer.....	Millicent Nelson

Officers of Dramatics' club second semester:

President.....	Elvira Anderson
Vice-president.....	Idamae Brenton
Secretary	Emilie Peterson
Treasurer.....	Beulah Tornquist

DRAMATICS' CLASSES

The dramatics' classes have played a very important part in the extra-curricular activities during the year. The first play that was presented this year was "Dust," a one-act play. This was acted by Roxie Goshgarian, Howard Hayes, Harold Brown, and Carolyn Hart. It was one of the plays that was presented in the senior assembly in the afternoon after school. These "after-school-plays" proved quite popular.

On November twenty-fourth, the three-act play, "Have You Seen the Queen?" was presented. This play had a college setting, portraying college life most vividly. The carnival was one of the biggest events of the year in the school, and after much deliberation, the queen of this great occasion was chosen. The queen, who was the heroine of the play, disappeared on the day of the carnival, and a substitute was selected. The events of the night of the carnival were an entire surprise to the whole student body. This play, however, ended as all plays do. The queen was located and everything was all right.

The cast was as follows:

Patricia Page—a senior.....	Flora Webster
Sally Sylvester—daughter of the president of the college.....	Ethel Martson
Barbara Barrington—another senior.....	Florence Stake
Bobby Byrnes—a freshman.....	Ferdinand Mikesch
Raymond Willis—one of the crowd.....	Edward Tyrrell
Lindy Lee Sylvester—Sally's younger sister.....	Roberta Brown
Tom Waggoner—senior president.....	Robert Wilmot
Dayton Dean—carnival manager.....	Harry Stiles
Lotus Leary—an heiress.....	Merle Regan
Ann Day—her secretary.....	Elvira Anderson
Mandy—a maid.....	Elizabeth Zeiler
John Chester—from the East.....	Alfred Heathcote
Ross Regnolds—an alumnus.....	Steve Stoikoff
Polly Pryor—a professor's daughter.....	Willa Burke
Fredricka—a substitute.....	Ella Gayle Haese
Leroy Montague—a speaker of the evening.....	Howard Hays
Joe—financé of Lotus.....	John Mansnerus
Princess Aimee—of Phantasia.....	Millicent Nelson
Dancers.....	Melba Spiers and Natalie Solomon

Another of the one-act plays which was presented in the afternoon was "Thursday Evening." Those who took part were:

Emilie Petersen, Harry Stiles, Millicent Nelson, Elvira Anderson.

A short one-act play which was presented in the senior assembly during homeroom period was "Mother Pays." The cast was as follows:

Idamae Brenton, Alfred Heathcote, Martha Kazlowski, Marjorie Heydecker, Lloyd Van Deusen.

One of the best of the longer plays given by the dramatics' classes was "Mother Carey's Chickens," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. This was a four-act play with a modern setting. The Careys came to live in a small country town. The elder daughter and son find a letter which served as a will in which Grandmother Hamilton left the house to her grandson Tom. The children keep this from their mother until Tom Hamilton arrives. Then complications arise. Ralph Thurston and Tom fall in love with Nancy Carey. Julia Carey, a cousin visiting the Careys, tells Tom that Nancy is in love with Ralph. He goes off without telling Nancy the reason. When he finally returns, Julia tells him the truth and "everybody lives happily ever after."

The cast for this play was:

Nancy Carey.....	Kathryn Brown
Mrs. Carey.....	Florence Stake
Gilbert Carey.....	Ferdinand Mikesch
Kathleen Carey.....	Marjorie Heydecker
Peter Carey.....	Robert Stein
Julia Carey.....	Avis Edwards
Anne Chadwick.....	Caroline Nelson
Mr. Popham.....	Claude Hawley
Mrs. Popham.....	Grace Edith Shoup
Lolly Joy Popham.....	Marjorie Morse
Tom Hamilton.....	Donald Nellins
Ralph Thurston.....	Kenneth Morris
Dr. Lord.....	Thomas Diver
Cyril Lord.....	George Shea
Sam Berry.....	Aaron Warfel

Row 1—I. Holmquist, E. Lindross, H. Rioux, R. Goshgarian, G. Kuusisto, H. Stern, A. Lindross. Row 2—J. Fulton, K. Becklain, H. Stiles, A. Stenros, C. Hawley, G. Wendahl, H. Brown, R. Seeber.

TIGER HOUSE

The midyear senior play, "Tiger House," was given December ninth and tenth.

This was a thrilling mystery drama with excitement throughout the whole play. Screams! sighs! gasps!

The cast was as follows:

Erma Lauries.....	Esther Lindross
	Ione Holmquist
Yami.....	Claude Hawley
Mrs. Murdock.....	Harriet Stern
	Roxie Goshgarian
MacIntosh.....	Harry Stiles
	Andrew Stenros

	James Fulton
Peg Van Ess.....	Hughina Rioux
Thompson.....	Kaxcheg Becklian
Oswald.....	Roy Seeber
	George Wendahl
Mystery Woman.....	Gertrude Kuusisto
Aunt Sophia.....	Ann Lindross

Erma and her aunt Sophia have come to live in the house bequeathed Erma by an aunt who had stolen a necklace which was supposed to be very famous. The "Mystery Woman" warns Erma of the danger of staying in the house. Lights appear from behind the picture of the aunt, and mysterious tiger paws appear from behind the bookcase and the fireplace. MacIntosh is kidnapped but frees himself and the "Mystery Woman." Then Erma and Arthur learn that the treasure is hidden in the secret room behind the fireplace. Erma find the necklace under the crystal globe. Arthur, who is really at the head of the men who are searching for the necklace, tries to get it from Erma. At the crucial moment MacIntosh finds the secret entrance and rescue Erma.

HOT COPY

The June senior play, "Hot Copy," was given May twentieth and twenty-first. This play was a snappy newspaper story in which the editor, who was having financial difficulties, found great help in an old school chum, who had looked him up. It was not long before these two, with the help of their capable office force, had helped the editor out of his difficulties, and had perfected the paper until it was the best in town.

The cast was as follows:

Sylvia Dale—society reporter.....	Ella Gayle Haese
	Emilie Peterson
Bill Gregory—police reporter.....	George Setrakian
Bud Rice—printer.....	Charles Guyot
Jane Corwin—assistant editor.....	Merle Regan
Kenneth Wade—editor of Evening Herald.....	Clifford Hoyer
	Alfred Heathcote
Hazel Winston—prominent woman in the city.....	Genevieve Hewitt
	Alberta Warren
Peggy—reporter.....	Marie Grom
	June Pereira

BOYS' GLEE CLUB.

Every seventh period the junior building is entertained by the golden voices of the Boys' Glee club, directed by Mr. G. E. Schumann. The fine collection of tenors, baritones, and basses exercise their vocal chords at this time. Mr. Schumann spends a great deal of time with the boys, and he feels well repaid if they show an interest in their work. Some boys have developed really fine voices under his supervision. Others have developed an ear for classical music, which many feel is an envied accomplishment.

The boys have combined with the Girls' Glee club in presenting several successful programs. They took part in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter programs. A sacred cantata, "The Holy City," was given by the two groups in the senior auditorium on Sunday, December thirteenth, 1931. The boys have also made appearances at many outside places, at commencement, and at class day. With the girls they sang a program at the Methodist church for the W. C. T. U. They have also sung for the Women's club, Lion's club, and Rotary club.

Every year the crowning achievement of the club is the operetta. The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs unite in producing it. The boys are selected for parts according to work which they have done during the year. To be chosen for a leading rôle is one of the highest honors a member of the club can attain.

Row 1—J. Ward, M. Thompson, A. Lehto, G. Goslees, L. Fulton, W. Wedell, V. Russell, H. Driscoll, M. Mowen. Row 2—G. Schumann, V. Harma, T. Lehtonen, R. Tonsager, E. Johnson, V. Farmer, D. Hallin, M. GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee club meets every day, eighth period, in room 400 in the junior building. It has progressed and expanded greatly. There are now about fifty or sixty members.

This year the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs and four soloists presented a sacred oratorio, "The Holy City," in the senior auditorium on December thirteenth, 1931.

With the proceeds from this year's operetta "Joan of the Nancy Lee," given by the combined Glee clubs, the members will be outfitted with purple and gold uniforms, which they will wear on all important occasions.

The following is the program of the seventh annual concert, given by the Glee clubs:

The Sea Hath Its Pearls.....	Pinseeti

RIDING DOWN THE SKY

Don Pedro de Garvanza, president of Santa Delmonica (George McCord), insisted that Carmelita, his daughter (Ione Holmquist and Lucille Harding), marry Don Jose del Molino (Vernon Oke). If Don Jose marries Carmelita, he will give Garvanza a million dollars to pay his army, which is beginning to revolt.

It is Carmelita's birthday and the girls are trying to reconcile her to her coming marriage. An airplane arrives bringing George McDonald (Arthur Bergstrom), Ben Baker (John Laird), and Joshua Scroggins (Albert Cohen). McDonald must be in Bolivia by evening to file a claim for an oil field.

Joshua overhears Francisco (Cecil Liddell) and Fernando (George Shea) plotting to dynamite the waterworks. Ben tries to upset the plan and by mistake attacks Jose.

Ben while in Hermosa makes love to Carmelita. Don Pedro and McDonald wish to leave. While they are planning to leave, the revolutionists dynamite the city springs. It is found out that there is oil there. Carmelita need not marry for money, and all ends as it should in such a delightful, gay operetta.

JOAN OF THE NANCY LEE

Sir Richard Camden, an English gentleman, has been exiled from his native country for political reasons, through the treachery of his cousin, Lord Egbert Mortimer. Before taking his leave, Sir Richard finds that his sweetheart, Lady Joanna Leyton, has jilted him in favor of Lord Egbert, who comes into possession of the Camden lands and wealth. Sir Richard becomes a pirate and joins with him a band of young English gentlemen who, too, have been jilted by their sweethearts. The pirates man the ship, "Nancy Lee," and choose as their leader Sir Richard, who becomes "Captain Dick" of the pirate barge. The "Nancy Lee" is sailing off the coast of England when her crew attacks and captures a ship which is carrying back from France Lady Joanna and her bridesmaids, who have been to Paris to buy gowns for Lady Joanna's approaching wedding.

The opera concerns itself with the way in which Lady Joanna prevents a mutiny of the crew, and makes herself captain of the ship, deposing her former lover. In the process of the plot, Joanna and Richard become reconciled, and the pirates, yielding to the charm of the maidens aboard ship, fore swear their oath to hate women, and become suitors for the hands of their captives.

GIRLS' CHORUS

The Girls' Chorus meets every day in room four hundred during second period. There are representatives from all classes, freshman, sophomore, junior and senior. The girls in the chorus are those who have not yet attained the finer points of music to enable them to join the Glee Club. "Practice makes perfect," and these girls soon become masters and go on to join the happy ranks in the Glee Club.

Every year when the operetta is given, the Girls' Chorus plays an important part in the production, and they usually have one or two specialty numbers.

The Chorus has also helped the Glee Club to present several successful programs. When the combined Glee Clubs presented "The Holy City" at an evening vesper service on Sunday, December thirteenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, the Chorus played an important part in the production. Also, when the Glee Clubs have sung in programs at the local high school, the Chorus has participated. The programs in which the Girls' Chorus participated were: the Thanksgiving program, the Christmas program, and the Easter service. They also sang with the Glee Clubs for the W. C. T. U. at the Methodist Church, during the first semester.

VOICE CLASSES

Mr. Schumann has organized three classes of vocal lessons for those pupils of all classes that show the most ability to progress and appear to have some future in voice work. One class is composed of those pupils who joined the classes in February. The other period devoted to the subject is occupied by an advanced class of girls who made their start last year. The third period is taken by the beginning and the advanced class of boys.

The voice classes presented recitals on October twentieth, 1931, November thirteenth, 1931 and February twenty-third, 1932, which were attended by students and teachers. The recitals were held in the junior assembly, and all the pupils in the voice classes participated. They sang either solos or quartets upon which they had worked for several weeks previous to the recital.

The pupils started out on a special "Vocal Instruction Book," written by a well known Chicago musician who is renowned in musical circles.

The classes made one of their appearances at the Christmas program at which they sang "O Holy Night." Some of the selections which they have studied are "Luxembourg Gardens," "Sleep Little Tired Eyes," "The Stars," "The Star," "If I Knew You and You Knew Me," "The Spirit of God," "Passing By," "The Lord is My Shepherd," "Do You Know My Garden," "I Came with a Song," "La Saventata," "Duna," and "Lord of Sky Blue Waters."

ORCHESTRA

For two decades the maintenance of the musical organization known as the orchestra has been one of the finest traditions of Waukegan Township High School. Up through the years the orchestra has grown until now it comprises about forty-five members. Back in 1910, at the start, there were only five musicians, two fiddlers, a clarinet player, a trombone player, and a drummer. Their interest in music was shown back in the old days, and today we have carried on the tradition.

Under the direction of Mr. Otto Graham, their professor, the orchestra of 1932 consists of many fine student musicians, several of whom have won honor awards in various state musical contests.

Every fourth period students get together and practice for coming musical events, including orchestra concerts, musical numbers for entertainments, and for solo contests held down state. The orchestra assists in selling tickets for concerts such as the Welsh Singers gave last fall. Over five hundred tickets for this event were sold by the orchestra and the band together.

Professor Otto Graham spends eight months out of the school year preparing the orchestra for the annual spring concert.

Each year all members have the opportunity to attend the meeting of the all-state high school orchestra providing that their standard comes up to major rating.

A party is enjoyed every year by the students who participate daily in orchestra practice. These parties are especially enjoyed by Mr. Graham, so they never fail to have one every year.

The social organizations of the city, including the Women's club, the D. A. R., and others, often call for the assistance of Mr. Graham in conducting special programs. The orchestra has played various patriotic programs at different times. It is a willing auxiliary to many entertainments throughout the school and city.

HISTORY OF THE BAND

Sixteen years ago, the Waukegan High School band included the magnificent sum of fifteen members. It had been organized the year before, 1914-1915. The band now contains about a hundred members.

The band made little progress after its beginning until in 1920. Mr. Otto E. Graham came here to direct it. He was asked to bring the band up to the standards of the other musical departments of the school, the orchestra and glee clubs.

Within three years, the band had improved and increased so greatly that it placed fourth in the state contest at Champaign, Illinois, with a grade of ninety-four, two points below the grade of the winner of the contest. Ever since, this organization has been one of the chief glories of W. T. H. S. Usually, it has placed in the district contest, and so has been allowed to compete in the state contest at Urbana. Though it has never won there, it has always been classed in the upper fourth.

The Waukegan High School band has always excelled in marching. In the words of Colonel House, senior judge of the state marching contest of 1929 in Urbana, our boys "marched as near perfect as it is humanly possible to march."

In 1928 and 1929, first place in marching was awarded our band, and the previous year, second.

One of the greatest honors the band has reaped was being selected from sixty-five musical organizations to lead a big state parade held by the American Legion in 1927.

At various times, a few of the band members have brought honor to the school as well as themselves by becoming national champions, and we are always hoping for more.

The Lions club has been active in assisting and encouraging the band. A medal has been given to the most useful senior member of the band. The band has made several trips to Lions state conventions, where it placed first in competition with other high school and professional bands.

During the summer of 1929, the band was kept together with one rehearsal and one concert a week, sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

This year, first place winners of the district contest at Deerfield were sent to the state contest at Illinois. The six soloists who gained this right are James Salmon, xylophone; Norman Pearson, clarinet; Louis Valentincic, baritone saxophone; Leonard Prentice, baritone horn; Charles Hewitt, clarinet, and William Soderquist, drums.

The saxophone and clarinet quartettes also placed first. The members of the former are Mitchell Work, Kenneth Morris, Edward Podboy, and Louis Valentincic. The clarinet ensemble includes Norman Pearson, Charles Hewitt, Walter Mortenson, and William Weiss.

The officers of the band for 1931-1932 were:

President.....	Robert Wilmot
Vice-president.....	Louis Valentincic
Secretary.....	Willis Calvert
Treasurer.....	Edward Podboy
Drum Major.....	Kenneth Loblav
Student Conductors.....	Norman Pearson
	Roy Seeber
Librarians.....	August Bartz
	Herman Zickerman
	Wilbur Soderquist
	Walter Mortenson

At Urbana, several of our boys were triumphant. The soloists,

Leonard Printice, baritone horn;
Louis Valentincic, baritone horn;
Norman Pearson, Clarinet;
James Salmon, xylophone;

and the clarinet quartette,

Norman Peterson
Charles Hewitt
Walter Mortensen, and
William Weiss

took first place. These boys are now entitled to take part in the national contest, and will doubtless make an excellent showing. Possibly one or two may be national champions. Second places were obtained by Charles Hewitt, clarinet soloist, William Soderquist, drum, and the saxophone quartette, Edward Podboy, Mitchell Work, Kenneth Morris, and Louis Valentincic.

These boys have gone their part to boost the Waukegan Township High School band upward to greater heights.

MILITARY

At the end of the school year of 1930-31 the cadet corps was inspected by Colonel Wildrick, from the Sixth Corps Area Headquarters in Chicago, and was adjudged to be the leading high school military unit in the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. This rating gave the local unit the distinction of being designated as an "honor school" by the War Department for the seventh successive year.

The 1931-32 year opened with an enrollment of over five hundred boys. There were no changes in the program from the previous year and two battalions, with six companies, were formed. For the first semester Harry Stiles was appointed as Lieutenant Colonel, with George Wendahl and Fowler Keeley as Majors. During the second semester the Lieutenant colonel was Francis Maloney, while Wm. Petersen and Herbert Oglesby served as Majors. Seven post-graduate officers were designated as assistant instructors in the Military Department during the last semester and placed in charge of the sophomore theory classes.

Armistice Day was observe by the cadet corps, when it assembled with the rest of the school for exercises in the new gymnasium. Mr. George L. Durkin, of Waukegan, delivered the Armistice Day address following a brief ceremony. As this observance has become the principal event held in the city each year on November eleventh, a number of parents and ex-service men were in attendance. Prior to this program the military unit attended the Sunday night service conducted by the American Legion in the high school gymnasium.

April first saw the Military Ball with the largest attendance in several years. The gymnasium was transformed into a setting of an army camp with large flags overhead forming the ceiling. A number of out-of-town visitors were attracted by the dance.

A drill platoon for competitions was formed early in the second semester and had their first competition at Joliet on April 29th, winning the platoon exhibition and trophy. Following this they journeyed to Milwaukee on May 7th to participate in drills against Evanston, Rockford and Beloit, Wisconsin, High Schools.

Rifle Team

The Rifle Team had a successful year in firing twenty-four postal matches with schools from California to Maine. In these matches only schools with teams of high caliber were selected and Waukegan was successful in winning the majority of the matches.

A broader program of shoulder-to-shoulder matches was adopted with eight matches and one tournament being included. In these Waukegan met St. John's Military Academy, Evanston, Joliet and Deerfield-Shields High Schools. An even break was secured with St. John's Military Academy, Evanston and Deerfield-Shields, while the local team won both of the Joliet matches. In the tournament held at Evanston on April 23rd Waukegan defeated sixteen teams to win the Prone Team Match.

In the National Intercollegiate Match conducted by the War Department the team representing our school led all of the Junior R. O. T. C. units in the Sixth Corps Area.

Very creditable scores were fired by three teams from Waukegan in the Hearst Trophy Match, the results of which are announced near the end of the school year.

The Rifle club, a separate organization from the Rifle team, had a membership of over fifty boys during the year. Harry Stiles served as president; Wm. Petersen as executive officer; James Fulton as vice-president; and Walter Lehwaldt as secretary-treasurer. Every active member of the club received a recognized qualification from the National Rifle Association, eleven boys reaching the qualification of Expert Rifleman.

The club serves to accommodate a number of boys each year, who are interested in rifle firing, but do not have the time or opportunity to participate in the long season of firing with a rifle team. The activities are under the supervision of the Military Department and all members are required to pass satisfactory tests before firing on the range.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The Athletic Association, nominally consisting of all season ticket holders for school athletics, forms too vast an organization for all the members to meet to settle matters of importance to themselves. Therefore, the holders of season football tickets meet once a year in the senior assembly to select a group of students to care for their interests. This group, known as the athletic executive committee, this year consisted of Milton Christenson, president; Robert Cooper, vice-president; Edward Podboy, secretary, and William Philipps, Poster club representative and publicity man. The organization is under the direction of one of the athletic sponsors, Mr. C. A. Jickling, who acts as treasurer.

The purpose of the committee is to promote interest in all athletic activities of the school. It endeavors to charter buses for out-of-town games, furnishes paper and materials for the Poster club to advertise all coming athletic events, assists in the sale of tickets, and forwards various other activities necessary to the carrying on of a complete athletic program.

After the LaSalle basketball game the committee sponsored a dance which was well attended and enjoyed by all.

The athletic executive committee is necessarily one of the hardest working organizations in the school. To be elected to a place in it is an honor, but the activities carried on by the committee require a great deal of time from the members and the sponsor.

VARSIITY FOOTBALL.

With one defeat at the hands of the strong Evanston aggregation, the Waukegan gridders closed the 1931-32 football season with five victories, one loss, and two ties.

In the opener of the season, Bill Schreyer plunged through the Lake View team for Waukegan's lone touchdown, which made the score 6-6.

Coach Wilson's boys rambled over the goals four times to defeat the Roosevelt Roughriders 28 to 0. Two of Waukegan's touchdowns were made by Stanczak and Setrakian, who ran 48 yards and 50 yards respectively.

Carl Schurz, north section champ of Chicago, was beaten by Waukegan to the tune of 14 to 6. The feat of the afternoon was when Christy passed the pigskin over the goal to Keeley, who caught the ball while lying on his back.

Setrakian and Christensen scored the Purple and Gold's two touchdowns over Bloom on two long runs. The final score was 15 to 0.

Waukegan with two thirty-yard passes trimmed the Kenosha "Red Devils" in the home-coming game, 19 to 13.

The Deerfield eleven was trounced badly by the Purple and Gold team in the first charity game. The final score was 21 to 0.

Coach Wilson's men duplicated the feat of last year by tying New Trier 7 to 7.

The Evanston aggregation ran wild and handed Waukegan its only defeat of the season with a score of 27 to 0.

Bill Schreyer, Gil Heaphy, Sayres, and Leo Selenik are the only letter men to return next fall.

RESERVE HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL.

The second heavyweight team, coached by J. J. Morley, with its organization purpose chiefly to develop players, and not primarily to win ball games, proved an exception, with the purple and gold reserves winning two games, tying one, and losing one during the 1931 season.

Antioch opened Waukegan's schedule and the Morley men handed them a 20-0 setback, at the Antioch gridiron. The following week the Kenosha "Red Devils" "B" squad went Waukegan one better and were able to give the locals their only defeat with a score of 13-6. Two weeks later, after many rough spots had been polished off, the locals, entertaining the "Red Devils" "B" eleven from Kenosha on the W. T. H. S. field, were able to eke out a 15-12 win. Bacon's performances coupled with that of Palmer's featured this game.

On November fourteenth the Morley men traveled to Evanston to be held to a tie by the downshore school in a game played on a muddy field. Neither team was able to score, and the fracas ended in a 0-0 tie.

The following boys received minor awards for their play on the reserves: Stoikoff, Taylor, Bacon, Palmer, Laurent, Caldwell, Alder, Guerin, Nellins, McKenzie, Osterberg, Holland, Hand, Watkins, Brewster, Stang, and Cooper.

Most of these men will be lost to the varsity next season, but Coach Morley will endeavor to form another winning combination from prospects of the frosh-soph squad.

SPRING FOOTBALL

In answer to the first call for annual spring football eighty-three lads responded promptly. Coach Mark Wilson, heavyweight football and lightweight basketball mentor, was in charge and he immediately set about in preparation for a snappy spring session of practice.

There were many unfavorable circumstances which hindered Coach Wilson, among which was the inclement and rainy weather that left the turf on the gridiron soggy and in no shape for action, whatever. This handicap made it necessary for Mr. Wilson to remain inside, conducting chalk talks and discussing rule changes until the field was in shape to play on. Having overcome this handicap, Mr. Wilson immediately set to work in earnest to teach blocking and tackling fundamentals to the prospective football players. One-hour drills were conducted in the afternoon on the gridiron at Weiss Field. The boys were ordered to exercise in order to keep their muscles in shape.

Coach Wilson, assisted by Coach Ross Bergman, freshman football and basketball mentor, cut the boys into groups in respect to classification and experience. Gradually the players became hardened. They were allowed to scrimmage, which action furnished some of the boys quite a thrill.

Finally as the spring practice period drew to a close, some of the fellows answered the call of baseball and track. With his eighteen best men in mind, Coach Wilson announced the termination of the session. Football uniforms were turned in and the 1923 spring football practice period was an item in the past history of Waukegan Township High School.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL.

The frosh-soph football record, consisting of three wins, three losses, and one tie, for the 1931 season, did not quite come up to the standard of frosh-soph football teams at W. T. H. S.

Coach Brown's aspirants playing the first game of the season went to the Libertyville gridiron and were able to hold the Wildcats second varsity to a 0-0 tie. The following week the Roughriders from Roosevelt high in Chicago came to the local pasture and were given a 17-0 setback. Morris and Morstadt were the ones who should receive honorable mention in this fracas. With one tie and one win strung up on their laurel wreath, the Waukeganites were hosts to the Libertyville Wildcats, but the Cats proved poor guests and defeated the frosh-soph eleven by a 6-0 score. After a much-needed week's practice, the locals took the Lane Tech pigskin pushers for a ride at Weiss Field and returned with a 19-0 win. A week later the Deerfield-Shields lights, after winning most of their competitive affairs in football for the current season, were unable to keep up their winning streak and lost to the Brownmen by a 12-6 score.

New Trier handed Waukegan its second defeat of the year when the Waukegan team was held to a scoreless game while the downshore team ran up 12 points. Rivalry still existed between Evanston and Waukegan, but neither team was able to show their wares in the game played in mud. Waukegan returned losers 6-2.

This game ended a somewhat successful season. Ending a fair season with a win would not be much to talk about, but ending it with a loss is something more or less to talk about.

Letters were awarded to the following men: Bisland, Bair, Hatton, Johnson, Kaptur, Killoran, Leonitis, Morris, Morstadt, Petroschius, Rose, Sapienza, and Wise. Leo Seigel received a minor "W" for manager.

Football among the freshman boys has become one of the rising sports in the athletic department of the school. Quite often good material is found that is used to strengthen the freshmen-sophomore team and sometimes the varsity eleven. One of the important parts of freshman football is the teaching of the fundamentals, which makes the activity an excellent source of training.

Waukegan's warriors started out the season with a 6-0 win over the freshmen from Libertyville High. Fighting "tooth and nail" for every inch of ground that they covered, the local frosh were unable to score any points while holding the Antioch lightweights to a 0-0 tie. The following week the locals were host to the Gurnee lights and lost 14-0. Ross Bergman's proteges next traveled to Libertyville and came home with a 14-18 defeat. After a week's rest and practice the frosh eleven traveled to the Gurnee gridiron and won from the "country boys" by a 14-12 score. The locals proved no match for the Lake Forest lights and lost 35-0. The Antioch Sequoits were turned by in defeat by a 7-0 score. On the final day of the season, the Evanston frosh took the locals "into camp" 6-0, in a game played on a muddy field.

The freshmen, in reward for their work and honest endeavor, received numerals. Those receiving numerals were: Boyer, Brunet, Corrigan, Ferry, Gerzel, Heckinger, Lockhart, Lehtonen, Strand, Swazas, Schoenke, Simonian, Abrahamson, and Mesec. Robert Sabonjian received a numeral for his work as student manager. Ross Bergman is the freshman coach.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

The varsity basketball squad, coached by R. D. Brown, no doubt one of the most followed athletic teams in high school, during the 1931-32 season won ten games and lost but four.

When the first call for candidates for the team was issued, thirty-five men reported. After a two-weeks' period of practice, Waukegan met and defeated McKinley High of Chicago on the local hardwood 41-13. The following Tuesday, Waukegan played its second home game and won from Morgan Park by a 32-18 score. During the Christmas vacation, the Brownmen took on Lindbloom and sent them back to Chicago with a 30-17 defeat strung up against them. By means of brilliant passing and smooth team-work, Waukegan defeated Harrison 22-14. Thornton was next defeated for victory number five; the score was 32-31.

The Purple and Gold five continued its winning streak by downing Roosevelt 33-22. Racine Horlicks, one of Wisconsin's strongest fives, bowed to Waukegan then lost three games, the locals 24-16, one each to Deerfield, Joliet, and La Salle-Peru. In the first game of the second semester, Waukegan traveled to Woodstock and won 27-25. Morris, who won twenty-two of its games and lost but one, was the only team to defeat Waukegan by more than six points. The score of this fracas was Waukegan 18 and Morris 33. Waukegan's fourth loss was to Kenosha, 17-21. Waukegan won the last two games on the schedule, beating Deerfield and Kenosha.

Scoring honors for this year went to "Jake" Nagode, Marty Stanczak, and Joe Palmer. The brilliant and featured guarding of Milt Christensen, who along with Stanczak was elected co-captain, was an important factor in the success of the Purple and Gold varsity.

The following men played their last game for Waukegan: Co-captains Stanczak and Milt Christensen, C. Christensen, Lindich, Podboy, Setrakian, and Bill Schreyer. Waukegan will have nine varsity men back again next year.

WAUKEGAN AT THE TOURNAMENTS

After drawing a bye on the first night, Waukegan was faced with the task of eliminating the scrappy little Indian quintet from Antioch. Antioch took an early lead in the first quarter mainly due to some sharp shooting by the eagle eyed center, King. The half mark still found the Indians leading. Coach Brown sent Martinez in as a substitute for Setrakian, mainly as a despairing last hope, but as it turned out, Sino put the needed spark into the purple and gold play. A fourth period lapse by the Redmen allowed Jake Nagode to dump in enough points to win 31 to 26.

Barrington was next in line for the Brownmen and with Waukegan playing heads up ball all the way, Barrington was completely outclassed and Coach Brown sent in his subs to finish the last period. The final score read Waukegan 33, Barrington 23.

Maine high school had won the right to face Waukegan in the finals by upsetting Libertyville and Wauconda on the two previous nights. Shortly after the tip off Waukegan ran up a substantial lead and was never afterward in danger. The Maine basketekers were sent home at the short end of a 25 to 13 score, with the result that Coach Brown and the Waukegan cage five had won their fifth straight district championship. Joe Palmer and Marty Stanczak were selected on the district all-star team, while Jake Nagode was chosen as the regular center on the second all-star selection.

By virtue of their district championship, Waukegan was entitled to play in the Joliet sectional tourney. The first opponent appeared in the form of West Chicago. West Chicago led at the end of the first rest period and was still ahead at the half. A belated Waukegan rally put the purple and gold ahead 17 to 16 three-quarters of the way, but the West Chicago team came back strong in the last period to avalanch the Brownmen under a 28 to 20 score and eliminate the local combine.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL.

Once again Coach Mark Wilson was successful in producing a smooth-working and clicking lightweight outfit. The W. T. H. S. ponyweight basketball team this season ended with a win over the Kenosha five, which made their tenth victory, while they lost four out of the fourteen games scheduled.

The only teams able to eke out a win over the flashy "W" ponies were the Rough Riders from Roosevelt high, and a potential Schurz aggregation. The ponies split even with both Deerfield and Kenosha. In the highest scoring rampage of the '31-'32 season the Wilsonmen left the Harrison quintet, a classy combine from Chicago, on the short end of a one-sided battle in which the local five compiled a 21-5 score against the Chicagoans. Incidentally, the Harrison team was one of the two combines to administer a licking to the Waukeganites last year.

Led by Ewing and Kilponen during the first part of the season, and Harrington and Bearman during the second semester, Waukegan's lightweight aggregation piled up 315 counters to 235 points for their opponents. This comparison testifies to the fact that although this season's ponyweight quintet was not an extraordinarily high scoring outfit, it was certainly a victory gaining combine. Kilponen and Bearman were appointed captains during the first and second semesters respectively. Ewing, Kilponen, and Shea were lost in the mid-year graduation, causing a handicap for Coach Wilson, who had built his team around these three men. The second semester saw Tucker and Martinez eligible; these men played regularly for the balance of the season.

The following is the complete schedule as played with the results:

Waukegan, 24;	Deerfield, 17	Waukegan, 21;	McKinley, 12

FRESHMEN BASKETBALL

The freshmen basketball team, under the direction of Coach R. M. Bergman, compiled a good record against some classy competition furnished by various other high school teams and some championship public grade school and catholic grade school aggregations.

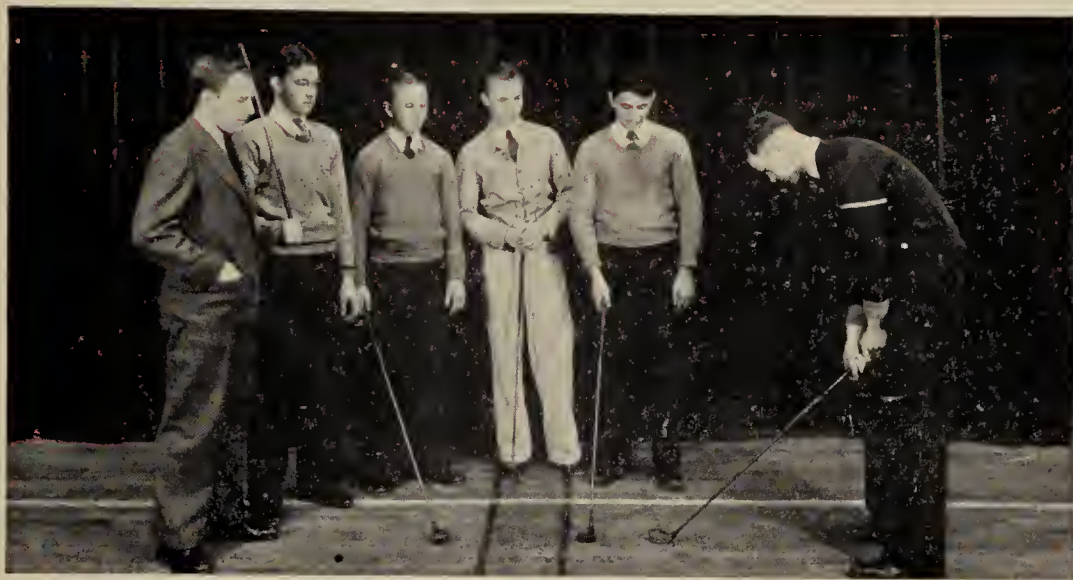

With a record of thirteen victories compared with a trio of bloches against them, the freshmen boys can boast of one of the most successful seasons ever played by a local frosh cage team.

The outstanding victories were over the Antioch lightweight five, 23 to 15 and 19 to 7. The Libertyville sophomores fell a 13 to 4 and a 20 to 19 count. The climax of this season was the smashing triumph over the all star grade school team 21 to 1.

The Evanston freshmen were the first to conquer the purple and gold, and they accomplished this fete only after a tough struggle. The final score read 30 to 23, but the downshore boys repeated the former trimming later in the season, the second time by a 31 to 21 count. The other defeat was suffered at the hands of the Deerfield freshman-sophomore combine by a 25 to 15 verdict.

GOLF.

The spring of 1931 found the golf team very busy. The first meet which was held was with Deerfield. They played here. The score for Waukegan was 1 against 14 for Deerfield. Kenosha was next in line, with the game played there. It was a medal play for Waukegan and the score was 12 for Kenosha. Waukegan's team was victorious over New Trier by a score of 8 to 6, our team being hosts. Kenosha played here with a score of 9, it being a medal play for Waukegan.

No one was qualified for the state preliminaries. The Lake Forest Academy played us there and were victorious with a score of 18 to 10. New Trier played us there winning with a score of 8 to 6. Evanston's team played us here with a victorious score of 8 to 4. We played Deerfield with a return game there. The score was 8½ to Waukegan's 6½. The scores of these golf matches show that our golf team did some good playing.

One minor letter was awarded to Fred Gottlieb. The depression is the main obstacle in the way of the golf team this season. Their hopes for a busy year, however, are high.

TRACK

Although Waukegan lost three of its five track meets in 1931, Coach R. D. Brown had the support of the trackmen throughout the season, and some excellent work was done.

In the first meet of the year we completely routed Libertyville with a score of 80 to 51. Following this win, Evanston gave us some of our own medicine at the rate of $69\frac{1}{2}$ to $25\frac{1}{2}$. Deerfield also left us far behind, 80 to 42 being the final scores. We repeated and increased our victory over Libertyville 88 to 43. 81 to 41 is the lamentable record of the trimming we received from Kenosha.

Coach Brown held a freshmen track meet to locate material for the future track teams who will represent the Purple and Gold.

Among the eight major letter men of nineteen thirty-one, Karl Daydiff was the only one to establish a new record. He accomplished this the previous year with a five-foot ten-inch high jump.

In the only cross country meet which Waukegan entered, which was held October 9, 1931, Waukegan defeated Senn High of Chicago. Bob Campbell came in first, Walter Wilmington second, Ray Sauve, fourth, and Frank Grana, seventh. Dick Ewing started out in fine style, but during the latter part of the race his stockings served as shoes.

Mr. D. W. Fields, cross country coach, and Robert Campbell, star trackman, traveled to Muscatine, Iowa, where Bob placed over a hundred boys in a meet.

The season closed October thirtieth. Those who had been out regularly for practice were: Campbell, Sauve, Wilmington, Grana, Laurent, and Menneci.

BASEBALL

Baseball candidates turned out in full force for the early practices of the spring of '31. Coach A. G. Grosche was full of confidence for the Purple and Gold team. There were many promising candidates for the positions on the team. With only two weeks left before the first game of the season, Coach Grosche was confronted by one of the hardest problems of the coach of a fine baseball team. That problem was to pick the best boys to be on the regular team. After a great deal of deliberation he finally picked Drobnick and Pasiewicz for the infield positions. There were others who were very promising for that position, Day, Bollor, and Orlovski. Kuhar, a veteran from the preceding year, was picked as first baseman. The pitching, catching, and outfielding men were the hardest to pick, but in Dicig, Paul, and Lampinen, Grosche had discovered that something that makes good pitchers.

Two of Waukegan's best letter men for the seasons of '28, '29, and '30, Norman Litz and Steve Balen, were sent to the Chicago Cubs for a tryout with that famous baseball team. Grosche had communicated with Manager Roger Hornsby and succeeded in getting Hornsby interested in the two local boys. This chance that was offered to the boys was one of which to be proud and a great deal of credit was due "Al" Grosche.

The following were the major lettermen of the season 1931.

Drobnick, Jerry
Day, James
Stanzak, Martin
Bala, Edward
Stang, Everett
Pasiewicz, Chester
Paul, Alex
Hrupsa, Valentin
Krause, Alfred
Kuhar, Rudy

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

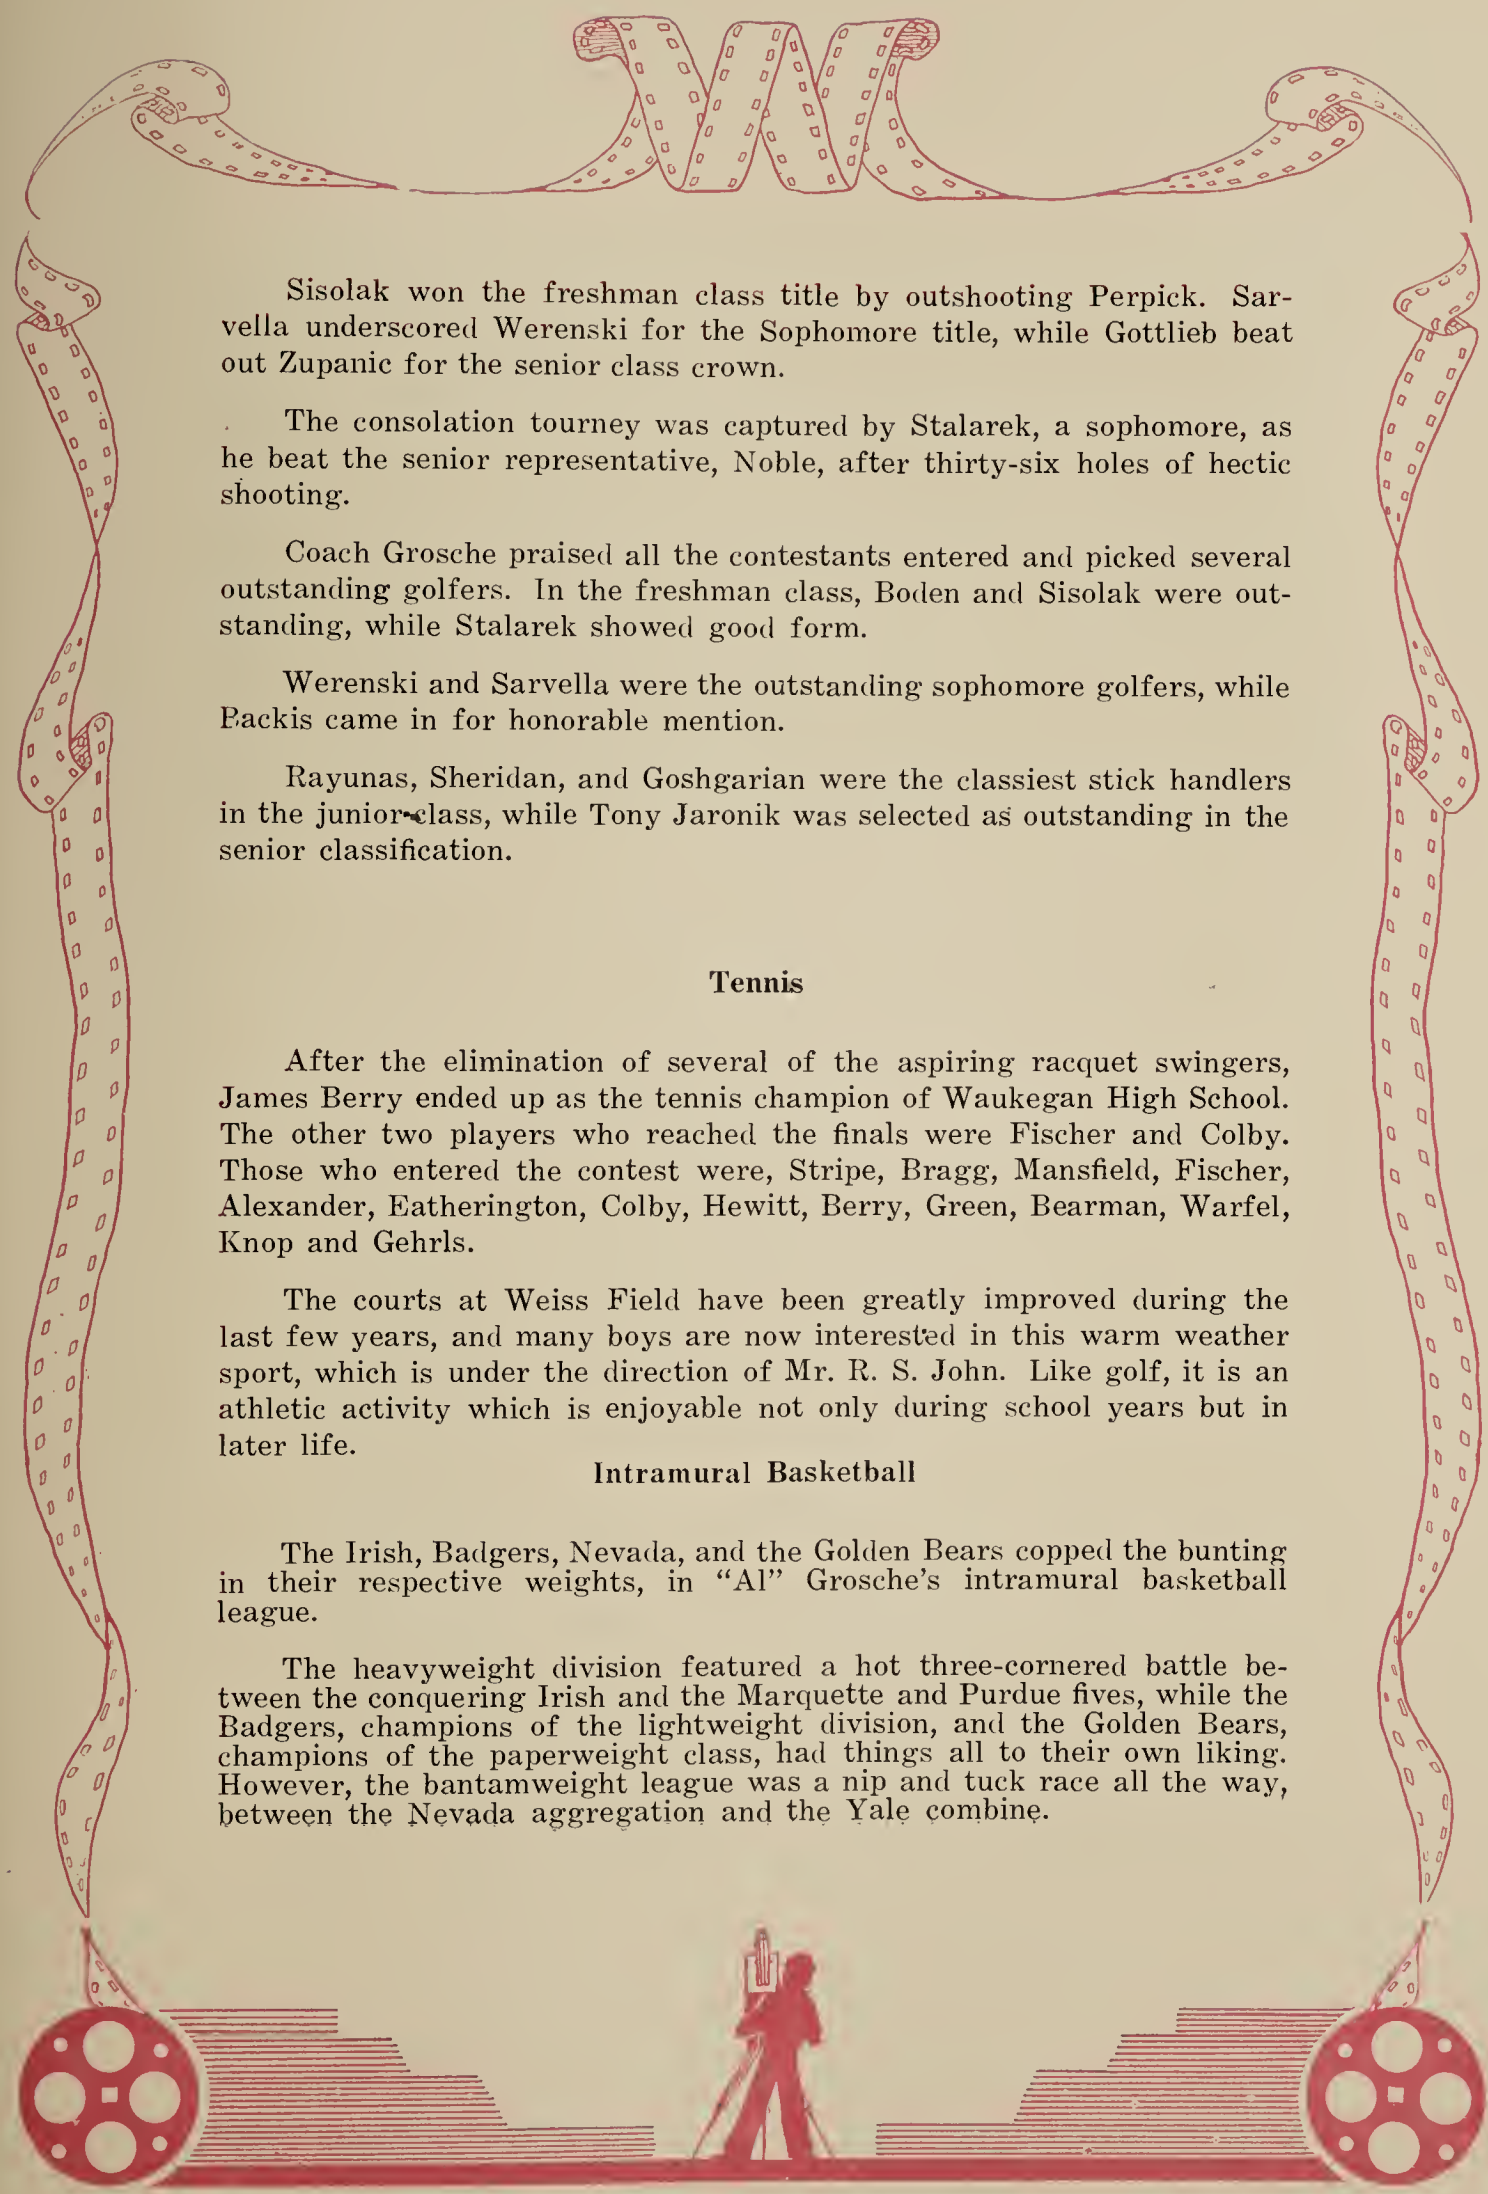

By far the greater number of boys engaged in athletics are those who take part in intramural sports. These include all the sports for which we have facilities in season. Intramural letters are awarded those who show special ability and determination.

Here are accounts of a few of the seasons.

Intramural Golf

After defeating Sheridan for the junior golf championship, Rayunas outshot his senior opponent, Gottlieb, and coasted into the championship ahead of his freshman golfing adversary, Sisolak, to capture the high school golfing crown.

Sisolak won the freshman class title by outshooting Perpick. Sarvella underscored Werenski for the Sophomore title, while Gottlieb beat out Zupanic for the senior class crown.

The consolation tourney was captured by Stalarek, a sophomore, as he beat the senior representative, Noble, after thirty-six holes of hectic shooting.

Coach Grosche praised all the contestants entered and picked several outstanding golfers. In the freshman class, Boden and Sisolak were outstanding, while Stalarek showed good form.

Werenski and Sarvella were the outstanding sophomore golfers, while Packis came in for honorable mention.

Rayunas, Sheridan, and Goshgarian were the classiest stick handlers in the junior class, while Tony Jaronik was selected as outstanding in the senior classification.

Tennis

After the elimination of several of the aspiring racquet swingers, James Berry ended up as the tennis champion of Waukegan High School. The other two players who reached the finals were Fischer and Colby. Those who entered the contest were, Stripe, Bragg, Mansfield, Fischer, Alexander, Eatherington, Colby, Hewitt, Berry, Green, Bearman, Warfel, Knop and Gehrls.

The courts at Weiss Field have been greatly improved during the last few years, and many boys are now interested in this warm weather sport, which is under the direction of Mr. R. S. John. Like golf, it is an athletic activity which is enjoyable not only during school years but in later life.

Intramural Basketball

The Irish, Badgers, Nevada, and the Golden Bears copped the bunting in their respective weights, in "Al" Grosche's intramural basketball league.

The heavyweight division featured a hot three-cornered battle between the conquering Irish and the Marquette and Purdue fives, while the Badgers, champions of the lightweight division, and the Golden Bears, champions of the paperweight class, had things all to their own liking. However, the bantamweight league was a nip and tuck race all the way, between the Nevada aggregation and the Yale combine.

FALL INTRAMURAL

Instructor Grosche chose seven all star men to represent each division, and of the all star selections, four fellows were given the distinction of being captain. Tommy Drew of the second place Marquette crew was chosen captain of the heavyweight stars. Angelos, center on the champion Badger outfit, was selected as captain of the lightweight stars. Bragg, forward on the league leading Golden Bears, was appointed leader of the paperweight all stars, while Schwab was honored with the captaincy of the bantamweight selection.

All Stars Selections (Heavies): Forwards—Edwards, Purdue; Mears, Irish; Goerler, Tulane; center—Zadigan, Marquette; guard—(Capt.) Drew, Marquette; Johnson, Carnegie; Hand, Purdue.

Lights: Forwards—Maikranz, Wildcats; Ward, Wildcats; Heckinger, Trojans; center—(Capt.) Angelos, Badgers; guard—Boller, Trojans; Hallstein, Trojans; Ruta, Badgers.

Bantams: Forwards—Townsend, Paul, Yale; Ward, Yale; center—Davidson, Nevada; guard—Zupansic, Harvard; Tompkins, Nevada; (Capt.) Schwab, Yale.

Paper Weight: Forwards—(Capt.) Bragg, Golden Bears; Sisolak, Illini; Heydecker, Bull Dogs; center—Pasiewicz, Golden Bears; guard—Stasier, Illini; Tucker, Illini; Morgan, Bull Dogs.

SWIMMING

The senior team began the season with a triumphant defeat of Deerfield, 41-28. The juniors, though fighting hard, were less successful, coming off only second best with a score of 27-33.

The senior swimmers showed their calibre by working through to wrest a victory, 35-34, from Kenosha, state champions for three years. By the same narrow margin, New Triermen, who held the suburban league championship, defeated the senior home team, 29-30. By the identical score with which they had won from Kenosha, the home team repeated its performance in respect to Rockford, who hold second place in the Illinois state championship. Two losses followed this success, the first to Deerfield, 31-38, and the second to Kenosha, 18-44. They must have been waiting for us. But the seniors came back to whip York, 34-18.

Rockford won our annual invitational meet.

The boys who led during the first semester were Captain Ray Woertz, and Walter Wilmington, water polo captain. In the second semester Heckinger and Rayunas were selected to fill their places.

Junior swimming team scores were:

York	14
Waukegan	27
Kenosha	46
Waukegan	13
Deerfield	41
Waukegan	16
New Trier.....	44
Waukegan	9
Kenosha	37
Waukegan	20
Deerfield	33
Waukegan	37

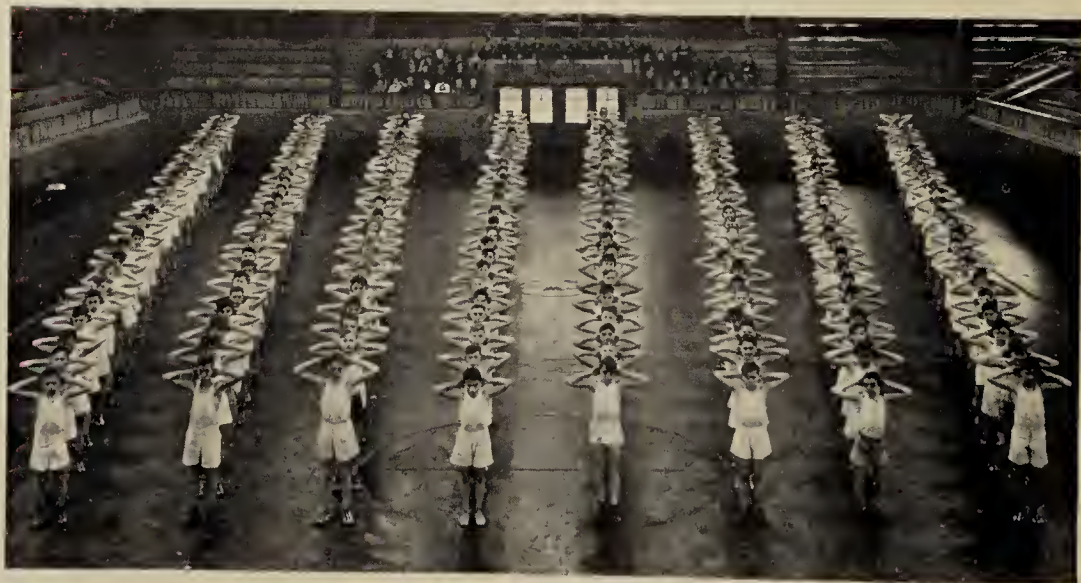

REQUIRED PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Following the modern educational trend toward developing the body as well as the mind, Waukegan Township High School requires a certain amount of physical training work of every pupil. Boys and girls both have gym and swimming classes during the freshman year. Girls complete their necessary class work with a second year of swimming, though they are urged to continue athletic training in after-school activities. During the second and third years either military training or band is included among the requirements for boys. Swimming is a part of the military course.

Physical examinations of all freshmen are made, to ascertain any abnormal condition which should have special attention, and determine that the exercise of the courses is in no way injurious to the student. There are special classes designed to help those in some way not quite normal.

Instructors attempt to make the gym work as interesting as possible. Games are played which not only train the body, but also develop good sportsmanship, give the pleasure of competition, and offer the students an opportunity to determine which sports they prefer to continue in outside activities.

The school has unusually good facilities in its gym, pool, and field, and students should take advantage of them.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Soccer

Crisp frosty days go hand in hand with soccer, which opened the girls' sport season last fall. Soccer is a game loved by all. The season for soccer lasts till November, after which volleyball was taken up. All the games were played out at Weiss Field. Excitement was created throughout the whole tournament. After much competition the tournament was won by the junior team consisting of Helen Gordon, Eunice Gibbons, Lucile Gildea, Lorna Look, Betty Merriman, Frances Walzac, and Marie Wozna. All games were refereed by the gym instructor, Miss Margaret Heimlicher. The manager, Stella Paul, attended to the equipment and the attendance. In the tournament each team played against the remaining team at least once. Good team work was displayed throughout the whole tournament.

Archery

Archery is another fall sport, which is participated in during the same time as soccer. Archery was introduced to this school a year ago. The instructor at that time was Miss Alvene Price. Many girls came out for archery, some for curiosity and others because of their previous experiences outside of school. In the tournament, Ruth Knapp, the manager, scored the highest by making sixty-nine points, while Jenny Zalor scored second highest. This sport requires skill and steadiness one acquired under the instruction of Miss Grace Rundquist, dean of girls, and Miss Alice Bonar, swimming instructor.

Burkenheim, A. Aquelino.

Basketball

The basketball tournament was won by the freshmen team, which is quite unusual as the freshmen very seldom win over the upperclassmen in any event. The victorious team consists of E. Quist, M. Kurzick, J. Jesnovic, J. Grampo and R. Gurski. The manager, Alice Anderfuren, attends to the checking of the attendance, while all the refereeing is done by Miss M. Heimlicher. In the telegraphic goal shooting contest Waukegan girls placed third.

Volleyball

Volleyball, a sport enjoyed by many, followed the soccer season. The tournament was won by the junior-senior team. The representatives are B. Balberg, F. Walzac, E. Sutton, M. Wozna, H. Grego, H. D. Gordon, M. A. Terpainian, S. Paul, and H. M. Gordon. The remaining team fought, but were unable to win over the champions. The second place went to the freshmen-sophomore team. The manager for this event is Agnes Stenros.

Baseball and Track

Baseball is the sport which the girls respond to the most. The gym is used for the first part of the season, but when the weather permits Weiss Field is used. The manager, K. Christensen, sees that all the necessary equipment is at the field, as well as checks the attendance.

Each sport offers a girl forty points toward G. A. A., providing that she has eight practices to her credit. The final climax of the season was the picnic at Third Lake at Lorna Look's cottage, where officers for the next year were elected.

Swimming

Many girls responded to the call for life-saving last fall. Under the fine guidance of the swimming instructor, Miss Alice Bonar, eighteen girls passed their test. They are Alice Anderfuren, Vivian Johnson, Helen Lohman, Judith Goldman, Marion Olson, Betty McArthur, Marjorie Smyth, Cora Hoogenboom, Virginia Winther, Anna Demo, Anna Boehm, Nadine Newell, Gertrude Spoor, Marion Buckley, Barbara Rogers, and Mary Olson.

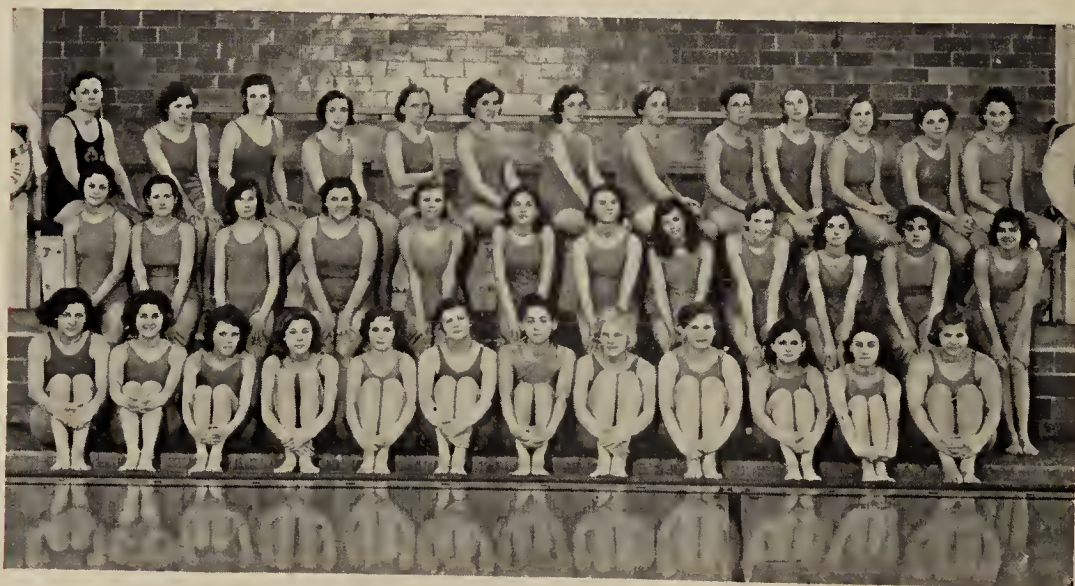

Water polo, a very interesting sport, opened the girls' swimming season in the fall. This event is rather new and is played very much like soccer. At the end of the eight weeks of practice a tournament was played which was won by the junior team. Much competition was had and good team work was exhibited.

In the mid season the swimming meet was held. This meet displayed the fine swimming qualities of each class. Although fine material was exhibited in all classes the seniors captured the honor by earning most points in the meet.

The climax of the swimming season was the water pageant, "The Plundering Pirates," which was given May 13. This was the fifth pageant presented. Much honor should be bestowed upon Regina Gildea, a senior, who has been one of the most faithful and reliable girls in swimming. She has participated in four out of the five pageants given. This last pageant was a story of buried treasure, raiding pirates, mermaids, animals of the sea, an imp and a sea god. Each part was cleverly played. The pageant ended a successful swimming season by giving many laughs, thrills, romance, and excitement to all.

DRUMS

The huge yellow moon rose out of the sea and laid a pathway of gold on the heaving waters. The coral beach gleamed a dull yellow in the moonlight, and the foliage of the jungle looked like an impenetrable barrier, shutting off the mountains from the sea. Drums boomed and throbbed, big drums, small drums, distant drums, and drums near by. On the edge of the jungle, a tiny campfire flickered in front of a tent, thus betraying the presence of humans. Near the tents were piled boxes of camp quipment and near by several black carrier boys and gunners slept. Seated in camp chairs, near the fire, were two white men. McArthur was a true picture of masculine beauty. He was tall and well proportioned, with an impassive bronzed face. Stuck in the corner of his mouth was a pipe which glowed brightly at intervals. Perched on the back of his head was a tropical cork helmet. He was busily engaged in mopping up the beads of sweat which ran down his forehead.

Kenyon, the other man, was a small, weazened, burnt-up looking individual. His coal black, beady eyes darted furtively along the edge of the jungle as if searching for something. His drooping yellow mustache twitched nervously and he drummed with his fingers on his knees.

McArthur spat disgustedly into the leaping flames and sneered, "For the love O' mud, don't let those heathen jazz bands give yuh the creeps; they won't hurt yuh." The drums throbbed on. Wild animals roared and screamed in the jungle.

"But for goodness sake can't they play a new tune? This one has been going on for two days and nights. It's enough to drive anyone crazy!" The drumming grew louder, so loud that the whole earth seemed to vibrate with the booming of the drums.

In the jungle, weirdly painted black forms crept stealthily toward the beach. Soon the tents were surrounded. McArthur yawned and leaned back. A spear struck him squarely in the back and his limp body slumped to the sand. Kenyon screamed, jumped up, and whipped out his pistols, but before he could fire, he was hacked down from behind. Short work was made of the gunbearers and carrier boys.

The sun coming up the next morning found two new heads on the pole in front of the Bushman village. All was quiet. The drums had stopped. Even McArthur's face wore the same calm and complacent smile of the night before and Kenyon's yellow mustache still drooped over the corners of his mouth.

JUST A SIMPLE SPEECH

I paced the floor nervously. In the distance I could hear the hum of conversation; now and then occurred an occasional burst of applause. I felt sick—sick with the agony of waiting—waiting. Soon it was to be my turn. Mad fancies rushed through my head. What if I forgot part of my speech, or supposing I tripped as I mounted the stairs, and a thousand similar questions crowded into my mind.

Suddenly the door opened, and in bounded my best friend. "Your turn is next," he yelled and popped back through the door. "I can't go through with it," I whispered hoarsely, but he was already gone. With nervous, shaking, fingers I straightened my tie and gave a hasty pat to my already smooth hair. Summoning all my courage I threw open the door and stepped into the hall. I paused; my knees shook so that I could not move a step. Dimly through the haze I heard myself being presented. The sound of voices seemed to merge into one dreamy indefinite hum. This continued only for a brief period; then I felt myself walking up the steps in a daze. Soon I was surprised to find myself on the stage. I struggled to remember the opening lines of my speech, but my mind was blank. My lips moved, but I could not utter a word. Wildly I glanced about; no one came to my aid. A deadly nausea seemed to overcome me. Some one in the audience tittered. A dull, dark flush spread over my face; again I attempted to start my speech. Imagine my surprise! I found myself speaking clearly, distinctly and with comparative ease. With one big flourish I drew my speech to a close. The applause was deadening. What sweet music to my ears! After all, it is a simple thing to give a speech.

AN ENCHANTED GARDEN

I chanced one moonlit evening
On a place which I know to be
The loveliest spot in creation,
A garden by the sea.

The fairies were having a party
And dressed in their very best;
The flowers were chattering gaily
Greeting each new-coming guest;

There was dancing and singing and laughter
Until dawn began to peep,
When the sun came out with a cheerful smile
And put them all to sleep.

PUPPY LOVE

Love? Oh yes, everybody knows what love is. (It is a ticklish feeling around one's heart; it lasts a few days, sometimes a year, or, once in a great while, a lifetime.) However, we are mainly interested in "puppy love" at the present time, and we are going to tell you what it is and how it affects those concerned.

"Puppy love" usually comes more than once, sometimes as often as every week. The lovers are young, almost too young to be lovers. Perhaps SHE sits in front of HIM in history class, and while he should be learning about Sherman's march to the sea, he is concentrating on the girl's attractiveness. Conscious of his admiring gaze, she displays all of her pretty little mannerisms. (Hence, both of them lose the value of the history lesson.)

When the bell rings they amble out of class together. (As they move so much more slowly than the other students, they are the cause of many disgusting looks.) Of course, the young lovers are unaware of these looks. Parting to go to their respective lockers, they squeeze each others' hands and go along singing. The pupils who have lockers near them smile, for they, too, know the effects of love. Perhaps they are at present feeling the same effects.

This state of affairs continues for a week or two, until one evening when he calls at her home and finds another "Sir Gallant" already there. After this discovery the admiring glances and delightful handclasps are decidedly absent between the two. In about three days everything is forgotten. She is "keeping company" with another boy, and he is already undergoing the same program with the girl who sits on the other side of him in history class.

The very mention of "puppy love" brings a smile to the face of the listeners. It brings back happy memories, and memories of youth bring pleasures to an older person.

THE PORTRAITS

The mellow, golden moon hung low in the blue black sky. Historic old pines whistled and moaned as if crying out in anguish against the colored jazz-band that blared away so noisily in the long, high-ceilinged old mansion. The grinning black, white-toothed faces seemed hideously out of place amid the French grey panneling of the beautiful old walls.

Immense fire-places loomed brightly at each end of the room. Above one of these hung an oil painting of a beautiful young girl. Above the other appeared the portrait of a handsome man. They seemed to be sending worried glances across the room to each other. Immediately below the painting of the girl stood one who, apparently, was the original. There were the same sparkling eyes, the bright hair and the tiny tilted nose. She was talking earnestly to a tall, dissipated, bored looking blonde fellow.

The frowning of the portrait gaze seemed fixed upon him. Suddenly with a sharp exclamation he turned and left the girl's side. Turning to the painting, she whispered, "Dearest Grandmother, I couldn't do it. I couldn't marry Ted and have to compare him to Grandfather all my life. Grandfather was so great and gay and Teddy is so small and worthless." She left the room.

If anyone had troubled to notice the portraits, they would have seen that the worried frowns seemed changed to joy and contentment.

EXAMS

The time of year is drawing near
That nearly drives me wild,
It fills me full of dread and fear,
And makes me a desperate child.

It finds me very absent-minded,
Indifferent to all "slams,"
Long I waited with growing terrors,
The coming of exams.

My head is filled with Latin verbs,
I dream of Lizzie's reign,
The very thought of polygons
Gives me a growing pain.

Hawthorne was a president,
Disraeli was a king,
When the paper comes to me,
I will not know a thing.

Gladys Kastner, February, '33.

LUNCH ROOM MANNERS

Lunch room manners should be established on the basis of the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

If you are fond of having people who, arriving five minutes later than you, push ahead of you in line, by all means make that practice one of your daily habits.

Grab trays from underneath the hands of the students and teachers, it's all in a day.

If you see someone else eyeing a particularly delectable salad, fix him with a glassy stare, and take it from under his very nose.

Never bother to get your money out before you reach the cashier, the person behind you will not mind waiting. If, by any chance, the cashier makes a mistake, tell him about it in loud, angry, tones. It will be an amusing little incident for the other diners, and will help make the cashier's day a happy one.

Never mind if the student who sits next to you had wished to save that particular place for a friend; as long as he is too polite to say so, put your tray down with a defiant gesture and begin eating at top speed.

These are just a few of the devices the well-bred person makes use of in the lunch room, but all those of my readers who are in the school can no doubt amplify them to suit his own needs.

IN A DENTIST'S CHAIR

After a half an hour of painful anticipation, vainly spent in concentrating on a sweet romance in the last "Ladies' Home Journal," I was ushered into the presence of that most fearful of men, the dentist. I entered with caution, feeling like a fly walking into the proverbial spider's parlor. The dentist nodded briskly in the direction of the chair and turned to sterilizing some deadly looking instruments. He was an insignificant appearing runt to inspire such fear, but it all goes to prove how often looks deceive.

I sat in the chair and suffered all the agonies of the condemned. With a nasty smirk my executioner blissfully chattered on about his latest triumphs in the most coveted of arts, dentistry. What a morbid sense of humor the man had!

"And now let's see!" he said, as he pried my trembling jaws apart and poked nonchalantly around with an ice pick. I closed my eyes and prayed that Heaven might deprive him of the use of those all-seeing orbs. But Heaven failed to respond, and the dreadful work continued.

"Ah! A cavity!" he murmured appreciatively like an archaeologist discovering Kutt Tutt's toothbrush. I reflected with regret that medieval tortures had long since been discarded but found considerable pleasure in picturing him on his knees begging forgiveness for ruining my sweet young life. I had just worked myself up to the verge of tears over the pathos of my scornful refusal when I felt the tools extracted and his cursedly cheerful voice saying, "Well, that's all for today, Sister. Drop in tomorrow and we'll finish the job."

Too weak for resistance, I meekly made a hasty exit, resolving to break an arm rather than return the next day.

Jean Kendall, February, '33.

DREAMING

I sit by a smoldering fire
And dream of things of the past,
Of the days of my worthy sires,
Of knights and fortresses fast.

I dream of the field of battle
With colors flying bright,
The clang of armor and rattle
When battle is at its height.

Armor flashes in the sun,
Clang of armor fills the air,
But now! The battle is won;
I kneel by my lady fair.

She places a garland upon my head,
But alas, it fades away,
I cannot hear what she has said,
I am back in the world of today.

Another day I dream once more
Of things of the ages to be,
Of the tales and of the ancient lore
To be told of you and me.

Perhaps some youth even as I,
In the days of future time,
Will read of our age with a sigh
And think of our lives, sublime.

Nov. 25—Thanksgiving program. No school tomorrow. Rah! Rah!

Nov. 26—What a meal! Oh boy! Turkey, 'n everything (including castor oil).

Nov. 30—Report cards again. Will they ever stop giving 75's?

DECEMBER

Dec. 1, 2—Gee whiz! Poor seniors. They have to take their final exams.

Dec. 4—Basketball season begins. McKinley had to hide their faces when they saw the score, 41-13 our favor.

Lights won too, 21-12.

Dance afterwards sponsored by the sophomore A's.

Dec. 5—Geoffery Morgan, impersonator and whatnot, speaks on "What Will We Be Twenty Years From Now." We wonder?

Dec. 9—Thrills and chills! Mystery play by seniors. "Tiger House."

No more snowballing. Some girl received a black eye through it. Anyway, the snow melted.

Dec. 10—"Tiger House" presented again.

Dec. 11—Morgan Park joins our list of defeated. Heavies beat them 32-14 and the lights win 32-17.

Football men receive their letters.

Dec. 15—Deerfield swimming team here. Seniors leave them behind by a 41-28 score, but the juniors are left behind by a 33-27 score.

Dec. 17—"Bud" Tyrrell made the darlinest Santa Claus for the History club Christmas party.

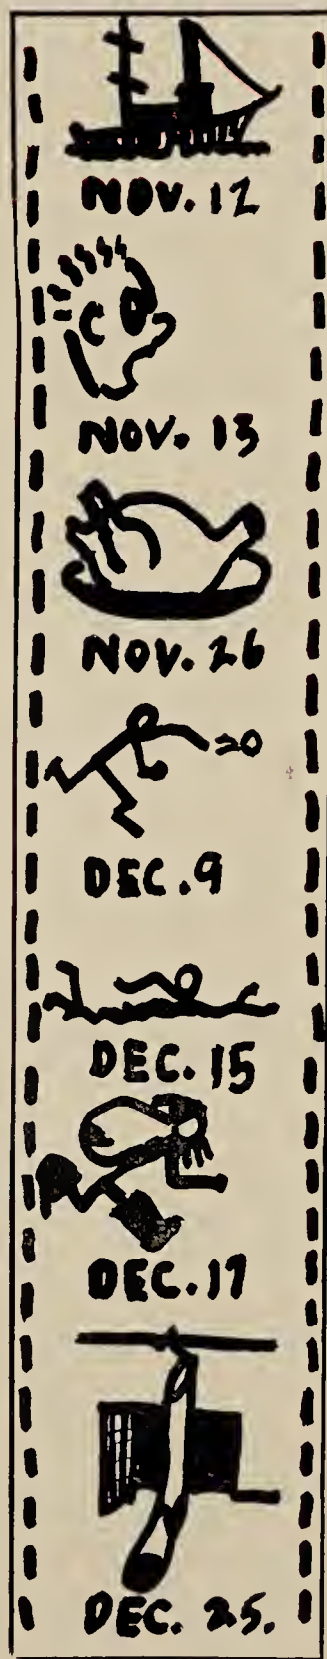

Annual Christmas dinner at the cafeteria. Turkey!

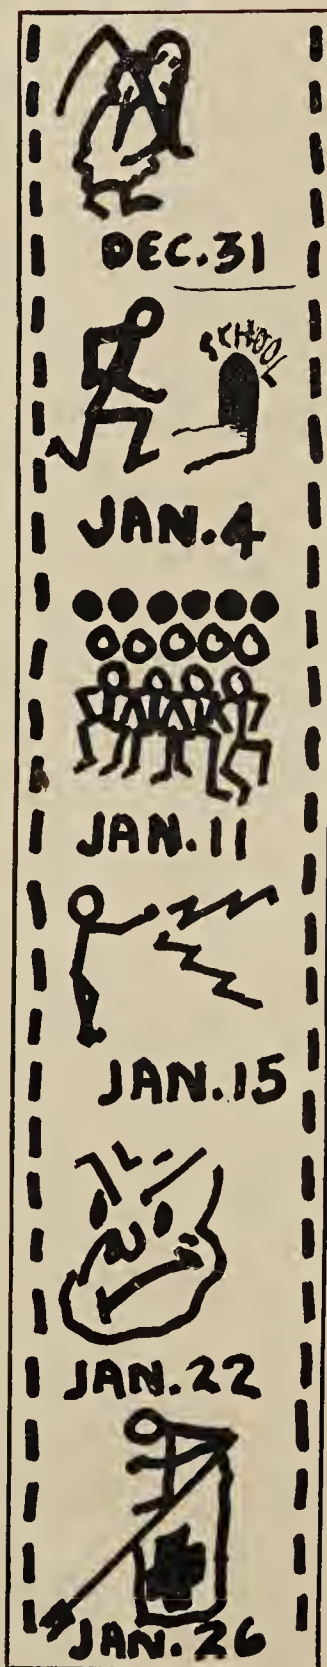

Dec. 18—Rev. Baldus gave us our Christmas sermon. Glee club sang.

Lindblom gives us another victory. Heavies 30-13. Lights repeat the score.

Dec. 19—Christmas vacation begins. Hooray!

Dec. 22—Another scalp. Harrison lost to the heavies, 22-14. Lights 21-5. Hi-Y dance after.

Dec. 25—Christmas. Stockings filled with candy and toys. Oh yeah? Coal and onions.

Dec. 29—Gee, are we good! Thornton is beat. Heavies 32-21. Lights 29-19.

Dec. 31—We all sit up and watch the old year out and the new year in.

JANUARY

Jan. 1—Happy New Year!!!

Jan. 4—Trudged back to school again. Gaily? No!

Jan. 8—Kenosha's swimmers are just barely beat, 35-34.

Jan. 9—Roosevelt skinned by us. Heavies 33-22. Lights 26-19.

Girls' League sponsored dance afterwards.

Jan 11.—Group pictures begin this week.

Jan. 14—Fun and good eats at the History club banquet in the cafeteria.

Jan. 15—The orchestra concert was beautiful. Excellent music and solos.

What Glenn Morris can't do with electricity isn't worth saying. He took part in an interesting program.

Jan. 16—Racine Horlicks here. Heavies 24-16 in our favor. Junior Chamber of Commerce dance afterward.

Jan. 17—"Martha" presented at the Chicago Civic Opera House. It was marvelous. Students along the north shore given rates.

Jan. 19—Deerfield gave us a slight licking there by a 26-25 score.

Jan. 22—Everybody goes around with a worried look on his face. Semester exams.

Jan. 23—Joliet agreed with Deerfield and beat us 26-22.

History club re-election. Robert Sundstrom elected president. Travel talk on Washington, D. C., by Mr. Hurd.

Feb. 24—History club movie "Betsy Ross." Paul Sifler played during and between the reels. All persons (both of them) who had paid dues received a free ticket.

Feb. 25—"Ganging Up On Gangland." Mr. Hansen told us how to finish gangsters. Don't be one yourself.

Feb. 29—"Leap Year Day." Poor boys. No doubt they paid with boxes of candy, for you know if a girl proposes and the boy refuses, the boy buys a box of candy.

MARCH

Mar. 1—Jokes! Jokes! "Who knows some jokes?" is the cry of ye editor to the annual staff.

Exciting game with Kenosha. 21-20. We won.

Mar. 3—Jean Gros presents his marionettes in scenes from the life of George Washington. Very entertaining.

Mar. 4—Band concert. Those having weak hearts and those afraid of storms are requested not to go. Novelty number very funny. Charles Guyot even funnier.

Mar. 7—The Girl Reserves gave the darlinest song and dance revue at the Parish House. They'll make marvelous chorus dancers.

Mar. 9—Hurray for the sophomore girls! They're the champions at basketball.

Tournament begins here.

Mar. 10—Victory of the first game in which we participate goes to us. We down Antioch by a 31-26 score.

Mar. 11—Again we come out on top. Waukegan 33, Barrington 23.

Mar. 12—Final game of tournament goes to good old Waukegan High! Waukegan 25, Maine 13.

Mar. 14—Report cards. Gosh, how did that 75 get on this card?

Mar. 17—Sectional tournament at Joliet. Bugs, we lost to West Chicago, 29-20. Nertz!

Frederick Snyder spoke on "Keeping Ahead Of the Headlines."

Mar. 18—Both affirmative and negative debate teams lost to Morton and McKinley respectively.

Mar. 19—Final band concert at Deerfield comes out with us second. Not so bad at that.

Girls' League representatives go to Cicero for meeting with representatives from other schools. A slight accident occurred but no one was hurt, much less killed. Heck!

Mar. 21—First day of spring with oodles and oodles of snow.

McElroy Brothers entertain us with a saxophone quartette and an accordionist. Très jolie. (If, like us, you don't speak French, "très jolie" means "very nice.")

Mar. 23—Easter program. Rev. Goodwin officiates. Glee Clubs sang. Last day of school before Easter vacation.

Mar. 24—Oh, boy! Did we sleep this morning! No school for the rest of the week.

Mar. 28—Trotted gaily back to school. So glad to see our dear classmates and teachers again.

Mar. 31—Girls who compose the Water Pageant cast have the fun of practicing almost every day after school.

APRIL

Apr. 1—April Fool! Isn't that a lovely phrase? Bah!

Military Ball. Wightman's orchestra furnished music. The gym was decorated to represent a military training camp.

Senior girls entertained at tea by the Women's University Club, and Business and Professional Women's club.

Apr. 4—Washington Bicentennial celebration, sponsored by the History club, held in gym. Movies and program given.

Apr. 5—Brave Bob Sundstrom! He braved the danger and threw a book at a poor little spider and killed it, saving many fair, fearful, feminine English students. My, wasn't he courageous? Ta, Ta.

Apr. 6—Private conferences with Mr. Prichard for the Senior B's about their next semester's programs.

New Harmonica club organized with Mr. Schumann as sponsor.

Apr. 8—First baseball game with Evanston.

Apr. 11—"Mother Carey's Chickens" presented by dramatics classes. Very well acted and directed.

Apr. 12—Mock election held by History club. Students mostly went wet.

Apr. 13—Ex-Governor Zimmerman of Wisconsin gave a travel talk on Spain at the Y. M. C. A.

Apr. 14—Grade school students learn what they're getting into. (Don't use a preposition to end a sentence with). They visited here today.

Apr. 15—W. T. H. S. band concert.

Apr. 16—Sophomore B class party. Good program. Music for dancing provided by Eddie Podboy's orchestra.

Apr. 19—History club shows colored slides on Washington. Guests invited, also members who have not paid their dues.

Apr. 25—Senior final exams begin. They're pretty unlucky because of exams, and pretty lucky because they don't have to attend classes.

Apr. 26—Miss Lavonne Field entertained us by songs and drawings, and her accompanist played a solo. We'd feel proud of ourselves if we could either sing or draw as well as Lavonne.

Prom chairman chosen.

Apr. 27—Girls decide variety is the spice of life. Formals, afternoon dresses, or school sports togs, may be worn to the prom. No flowers to be worn.

Apr. 28—Waukegan received five first places and three second places in the contest at Urbana. Guess they're pretty good all right. Just representative of the school!

Apr. 29—History and sociology classes went to the "big city" to visit the World Fair grounds, Furniture Mart, Tribune tower, a radio station, and the opera building. It rained and the poor children were drenched.

Freshman party—very swell.

MAY

May 2—Mr. Graham was in a swell mood today on account of because his boys came out the way they did at the contest.

May 3—Tom Diver almost had to get down on his knees to ask Avery Doolittle and Tunis Van Norden for a nickel so he could have a hamburger at "Sipp's."

May 4—The boys and girls who are going to the Prom have to sign up for their tickets today. One buck if they are taking a person who is not a junior or a senior.

History club meeting. Ice cream cones were served the kiddies.

May 5—We find that our annual is traveling overseas. Elma Wenta, of the Junior Red Cross, subscribed for an annual to exchange with a foreign country.

May 6—Spring fever. Gee, was it ever hot today! We dashed around without our coats.

Dramatics' club tea. All mothers of the dramatics students came and found out how terrible their darling little children were.

May 7—Prom tonight. Gym was decorated to represent a garden scene. Very pretty.

May 8—Band paraded for the Masonic commandry at Elgin.

MOTHERS' DAY . . .

May 9—Freshmen track meet. .

May 10—Military inspection. We get off all the first three periods. Not that we mind it.

May 12—Have you noticed all of the little knitted hats that the girls are wearing? Eleanor Roth's mother made them.

May 13—Friday the thirteenth!
"The Plundering Pirates," a water pageant given by the fems.

May 14—Band sponsors dance to send the winners of the state contest to the National contest at Marion, Indiana.

Mother and Daughter tea sponsored by the Girl Reserves at the Y. W. C. A.

May 16—Aw Bugs! Just when most of us get all dolled up in our spring clothes and go parading around, it has to go and rain.

Hi-Y ladies nights. Good meal for once!

May 18—Nobody heeds the red arrows that were painted at the bottom and top of the stairs in the Senior building. We continually meet someone who is wrong—or is it that we're wrong?

May 19—Gee! Does Ferdinand Mikesch get mad when you call him "gigolo."

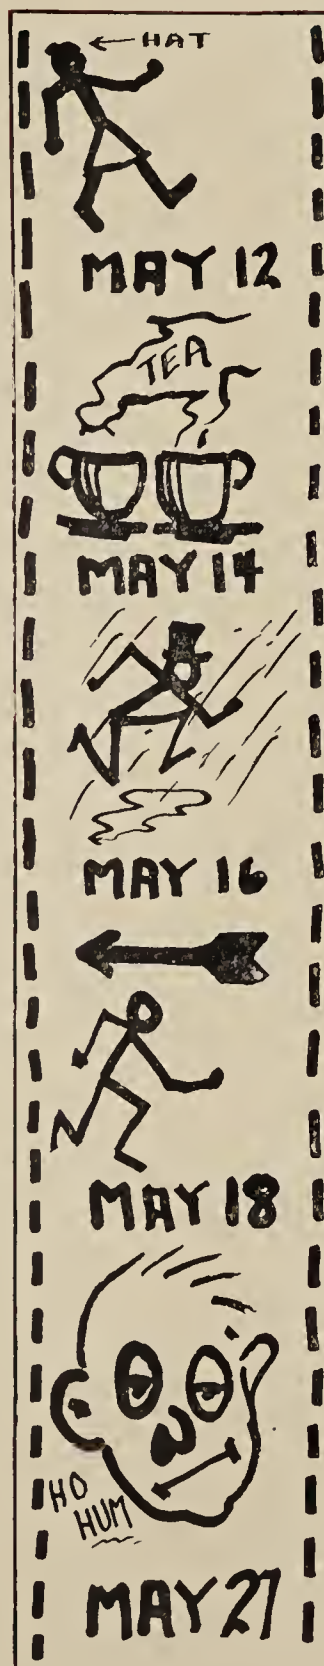

May 20-21—Senior play. Good acting and directing. Very well received.

May 23—Miss M. Dady just about fell over today when everybody in trig class had his lesson.

May 25—Jean Kendall was in a poetic mood today. Everything she said was in poetry. Sometimes it wouldn't rhyme, but why worry?

May 27—Jimmy Jones fell asleep in every class. Where was he last night?

May 30—Memorial Day.

JUNE

June 2—Publications picnic at Gage's lake. Everybody sick the next day.

June 2—Kenneth Loblaw slipped while running around the baseball diamond and just about broke his neck.

June 3—Exams. Why didn't we study? History club picnic.

June 3—Who wants to write an old exam on such a hot day? Just when you get a bright idea, somebody giggles or drops a book and drives all thoughts out of your head except the impulse to giggle.

June 4—Saturday! What a relief not to have to get up till noon.

June 5—Baccalaureate services. Dr. Martin officiates.

June 6—Back to the old grind, but only for a week, so it's not so bad.

June 7—The valedictorian, Evelyn Yard, and the salutatorian, Mary Simon, spoke on the future of the graduates.

June 7—Class Day. Charge very cleverly given.

June 9—Dr. Louis Mann speaks for the graduates. No one stumbled while getting up on the platform to receive his diploma.

June 9—Graduation. Hurray! It's all over for the seniors. Are we undergraduates ever glad!

June 10—Last day. We get our report cards, and didn't flunk in a thing. What's going to happen?

Now for fishing rods, swimming suits, and breakfast at noon.

THE END

Remember this and bear in mind.
A rare good joke is hard to find.
And when you hear a joke that's new,
Don't mind if the joke's on you.

Mr. Hurd: "Well Bob, how do you like school?"
Bob H.: "When it's closed."

Harriet Stern, (entering one of Mr.
Fields' classes): "May I speak to Ed
Podboy?"

Mr. Fields: "What for?"

Harriet: "I'd like to tell him something about the History Club."

Mr. Fields: "Aw, nerts!"

There is a story told of a north country preacher in Scotland who was noted for his difficulty in coming to an end. A parishioner who had not been to church as he passed the door saw a worshipper coming out. He asked the escaping culprit if the minister were done. "Aye," said the man vindictively, "he's done, but he winna stop."

Ted Heydecker: "Hm, I can tell you're a farmer because of the chicken feathers in your hat."

Winnie Kirkham: "They're not chicken feathers, they're turkey feathers, so I'm not a farmer."

Ted: "Well, don't farmers raise turkeys?"

A Question Of Selection

Jimmy Berry: "Why does Ethel always keep a fellow waiting so long after she says she'll be ready in a minute?"

Derry Brewster: "Because she picks out a minute which is about a half an hour away."

After a thirty-minute discussion on the expansion of water upon freezing:

Mr. Waldorf: "Now, are there any questions?"

Hazel Preston: "If you put a bottle full of water outside on a cold night, will the bottle break into big or little pieces?"

Marjorie Morse approached a uniformed man on a rather dark Chicago street:

"Officer!"

"Thanks!"

"Could you tell me where the United Artists' Theater is?"

"How should I know?" returned the taxicab driver.
